New Soviet Arms Plan

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Union today presented new disarmament proposals to the world which it said were intended to have been presented at the Paris summit meeting.

TEAMSTERS TALK TOUGH

TORONTO (CP)—With a strong warning to other unions to stay out of its jurisdiction, the Teamsters' union today acknowledged its expulsion from the Canadian Labor Congress.

"Anything that moves is our jurisdiction," said I. M. (Casey) Dods, Canadian director of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. "If anybody attacks us, we'll hit them with a strong counter-attack."

The statement was made following his return from a meeting in Ottawa Wednesday, where the CLC executive council formally expelled the 40,000-member union for raiding another CLC affiliate, the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

80MPH Wind Hits Banff, Heavy Loss

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Winds up to 80 mph hit the centre of this resort town Wednesday, uprooting hundreds of trees and causing an estimated $100,000 damage.

Power and telephone lines collapsed and falling trees smashed at least half a dozen parked cars as the storm hit hardest in an area between the Banff Springs Hotel, the Banff National Park administration building and neighboring Sulphur Mountain.

No injuries, however, were reported.

They were handed over by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and other officials of the ministry to representatives of the United States, Britain and France and other countries with diplomatic representation in Moscow.

It was reported they are still based on the Soviet concept of universal and complete disarmament but that the new draft embodied a number of new points to meet Western criticism of the Russian plan.

Correspondents in Moscow meanwhile were invited to a press conference in the Kremlin Friday at which Soviet Premier Khrushchev is expected to speak.

It appears virtually certain that the new disarmament plan would be the topic.

MORE DETAILED

It is reported to spell out in some detail Soviet proposals on controls over disarmament measures and is designed to answer Western criticism that Moscow was not sufficiently precise on this matter.

It is also understood to refer to a French proposal designed to ban vehicles which could carry nuclear weapons.

The 10-power disarmament conference is due to resume in Geneva Tuesday. It adjourned at the end of April after six weeks of fruitless discussion on how to get down to detailed negotiations.

When it adjourned, delegates of both East and West hoped a directive would be given from the summit on the resumed negotiations.

U.S. 'Alert' On Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Thomas Gates disclosed today that U.S. military forces now are engaged in a communications alert exercise.

Gates said that the exercise, similar to the one he ordered from Paris on the eve of the summit conference, started at 11 p.m. Wednesday night "and it is going on for several days."

U-2 HEARING

'No Attempt To Stop Flights'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Thomas Gates testified today that so far as he knows there was never any discussion in the administration of suspending spy plane flights over Russia as the date for the Paris summit conference approached.

In a closed-door session with the Senate foreign relations committee, Gates also:

1. Related that top-level administration officials unanimously felt that President Eisenhower should take responsibility for the spy flights after Soviet Premier Khrushchev made a great issue of the downing of a spy plane May 1.

2. Defended the military alert he issued from Paris on the eve of the summit session. Gates argued it was proper, prudent and "absolutely essential." He added in similar circumstances he would do the same thing again.

3. Disclosed the U-2 spy plane flights over the Soviet Union had produced a wide range of "vital information," including locations of missiles and planes and submarine and atomic production.

Some administration critics have questioned the timing of the alert order. They said the spy plane incident already had made it dubious whether the conference would be held. They added that the alert only complicated the situation.

OTTAWA VISIT

Informal visit to Ottawa will be made next Wednesday by Prime Minister Menzies of Australia. Accompanied by his wife, Mr. Menzies will stay in the capital two days and will confer with Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Some of the local con men don't just sell the woman of the house—they sell the house along with her.

One Belgian rushed into a police station recently to report that an African had knocked at the door of his home and asked if he could have a look around.

The African explained he had just bought the house, would be moving in on July 1, and wanted to have a look at his property.

The Belgian bought a gun and is apprehensively awaiting July 1.

Two Prospectors Caught in Shaft

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP)—Rescue workers dug by hand—one man at a time working in a tiny tunnel—in an attempt today to reach two prospectors trapped behind a mine cave-in.

It was expected to be late today before the rescuers could work through about 20 feet of rock, mud and rotting timbers to reach the prospectors, trapped Tuesday by a slide at the mine opening.

The trapped men are brothers, Pat McDonald, 45, and Percy, 51. Both are from Coquitlam, B.C.

Only one man could stand in the small rescue tunnel, with its medical team.

shovelling out dirt and rock. And reports from the scene said new piles of debris are falling continually from the sagging roofs and walls.

Teams Use Jeep to Reach Mine Site

An eight-man rescue team which reached the site after crossing difficult terrain by jeep was spearheading the rescue attempts. They were joined early today by five others.

In Vancouver, an RCAF helicopter was awaiting favorable weather before flying in a four-man medical team.

The rescue team, from Bralorne Pioneer Mines Limited, reported after it reached the mine Wednesday night that the cave-in was extensive but tapings indicated the trapped men were safe.

The prospectors, who were exploring the mine 150 miles northeast of Vancouver near McGillivray Falls, were believed to have plenty of air as the shaft penetrates fairly deep.

An official said the rescue team was well equipped and

'Many Die' Says Doctor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former official of the food and drug administration charged today that "hundreds of people ... suffer daily and many die" because of what he called the agency's failure to enforce drug safety and branding standards.

Dr. Barbara Moulton, who quit the staff of the FDA's bureau of medicine last February, made the charge in testimony before the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee. The group, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) is investigating the drug industry.

'DON'T WORRY' MOTHER TOLD

CANNES, France (UPI)—Mrs. Patricia Vanderbilt's missing daughter telephoned her mother from Germany today and said "Don't worry, mom. I'm in good hands."

Mrs. Vanderbilt previously had said she believed her blonde, blue-eyed, 18-year-old daughter Nanette had eloped, but she was not sure with whom.

CRASH IN PLAYGROUND

Young Boys Killed In Plane Escapade

POMONA, Calif. (UPI)—Two runaway brothers aged 12 and 14—and the pet dog they took along on their adventure—were killed early today when a plane they stole smashed full-throttle into a playground.

The single-engine plane crashed and burned in the grounds of Emerson Junior High School located in a residential section clustered with homes and apartment houses in this Los Angeles suburb.

Had the crash happened several hours later the playground would have been filled with milling students.

The brothers—who were in love with flying and once said they would learn to fly or "die trying"—were identified by their parents as Thomas, 12, and James, 14, McDonald. Both had once attempted to steal an airplane. They had been missing from their home since Monday.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—United Nations secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld suggested today that the small powers take the lead in seeking to solve the deadlock disarmament question. He told a news conference that last week's security council debate showed the value of "leadership exercised by countries which are not at the hard core of developments."

50,000 Students Mass

TOKYO (UPI)—The Tokyo police force was alerted today against an expected massive anti-American demonstration by leftist students. Fifty thousand students began massing in downtown Tokyo tonight to urge the rejection by force if necessary of the U.S.-Japan security treaty and the ousting of pro-western premier Nobusuke Kishi.

Hockey Greats To Attend Patrick Rites

Hockey stars from far and wide are travelling to Victoria to attend the funeral Saturday of hockey great Lester Patrick, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Wednesday at 2:55 p.m.

He was taken there two weeks ago suffering from lung cancer.

Four stars who played under Mr. Patrick in the Stanley Cup playoffs in New York in 1940 will attend. They are Babe Pratt, Alex Shibicky, Clint Smith and Neil Colville. "We hope they will act as pallbearers," Murray (Muzz) Patrick, Lester's son, said today.

Other old-timers who played under Mr. Patrick in Victoria and New York may also be pallbearers, including the 1925 Stanley Cup veterans Frank Fredrickson from Vancouver and Frank Foyston of Seattle.

The funeral services will be held at First United Church at 3 p.m. They will be conducted by Rev. A. I. Higgins, the present minister, and Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, 91, a former minister, who was a close friend of Mr. Patrick.

He is survived by the widow, Grace, at 242 Linden Avenue; two sons, Lynn and Murray, general managers of the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers of the NHL, who visited their father before his death; three brothers, Frank, Guy and Stanley in Vancouver; and two sisters, Mrs. W. Scott of Vancouver and Mrs. G. A. Strickland, Deep Cove.

BODY LIES IN STATE

The body will lie in state at Sands' funeral home from 7:30 p.m. Friday to 12:30 p.m. Saturday. Interment will be in the family plot at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Coming here to attend the funeral will be Walter Brown, president of the Boston Bruins and chairman of the National Hockey League's board of governors; and Ned Irish, president of Madison Square Garden.

Western Hockey League president Al Leader, who lives in Seattle, is also hoping to attend. So is old-time hockey star Fred (Cyclone) Taylor, now living in Vancouver.

The B.C. government, the city council and the city police will be represented.

'SILVER FOX' LOSS TO HOCKEY WORLD

'Legend Belongs to History'

By DOUG PEDEN
Times Sports Editor

The legend of the Silver Fox now belongs to history. Tributes to Lester Patrick, "Mr. Hockey" to millions of Canadians and Americans, have streamed into Victoria since his death at Royal Jubilee Hospital Wednesday afternoon, honoring the memory of the silver-haired genius of the ice lanes.

To me, and I am just one of hundreds, it seems like a deep personal loss; for I have felt privileged for almost 30 years to think that Lester Patrick was my friend. From the time I first met him while sharing school sports activities with his sons, Lynn and Murray, who have followed his pattern to become general managers of National Hockey League clubs, he was a man to be admired.

He always had time for the kids and spent many hours answering our questions on the back lawn of his Linden Avenue home. Patrick always seemed to understand our problems and his amazing memory was such that he never forgot the name of even the smallest urchin.

Lester's words guided many of us. He seldom said directly what should be done, preferring to relate anecdotes—and he was a master story-teller. It wasn't for several years that I realized that almost every story was told with a purpose.

I got to know Lester better in later years, especially one summer while he was vice-president of Madison Square Garden and I was doing a stint in the New York area with a House of David baseball team.

Lester had been ill that year and was under doctor's orders to lie down for a couple of hours each afternoon. During long talks while he was resting on a couch in his office, I learned a lot about, and from, Mr. Hockey.

That summer, more than at any other time, I knew that this was no ordinary man. We may never see another in hockey like Lester Patrick.

During one of those summer

sessions, Lester recalled what he believed was his greatest game. It was played in a small, open-air rink in Rossland, B.C., during the 1907-08 season, shortly after his father had sold the family business interests in Quebec and acquired timber holdings near Nelson.

Then 23, Lester was captain of the Nelson club. He was known to Rossland fans as "that Stanley Cup player" and was "razed" unmercifully while the teams were warming up for the opening game.

Always a thinker, Lester mapped his plan of action and seldom moved from his own end of the ice during the first 45 minutes. While he was conserving his energy, Rossland scored two goals. But with 15 minutes remaining, Patrick was the freshest player on the ice.

HOUSE AND THE SPOUSE 'ON SPECIAL' IN CONGO

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (UPI)—The most flourishing racket promoted by Congo city slickers these days is the "white slave" business on a future-delivery basis.

A brisk business in the "sale" of wives and daughters of Europeans is going on with the country dwellers with the promise the buyer will get his woman after the Congo becomes independent June 30.

The going price for a well-rounded Belgian woman is about $20—a month's salary for the average tribesman.

The swindle works like this. The city Joe sees one of his country cousins eyeing a white woman in the street. He sidles up and asks:

"Would my friend like to acquire that white woman after independence?"

The deal is usually clinched over a beer, and a "bill of sale" is handed over. Since few jungle Africans can read, they are often stuck with an election pamphlet which they are told gives them the right to possess the white woman after independence day.

Some of the local con men don't just sell the woman of the house—they sell the house along with her.

One Belgian rushed into a police station recently to report that an African had knocked at the door of his home and asked if he could have a look around.

The African explained he had just bought the house, would be moving in on July 1, and wanted to have a look at his property.

The Belgian bought a gun and is apprehensively awaiting July 1.

Airlines and shipping offices report they are booked solid for the next two months by Europeans heading for safety.

Tibetans, Reds In Major Battle

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—They said the number of Tibetans involved "ran into four figures" but the outcome of the battle and the number of casualties were not known.

Travellers arriving from the region said the battle took place within the last three weeks and appear to be the biggest clash between guerrillas and Chinese forces since the Red Chinese forced the Tibetan Dalai Lama into exile in March last year and seized full control of his Himalayan country.

The sources said the clash was bigger than the sporadic ambushes and sniping incidents which have taken place throughout Tibet several times since the Chinese army moved in in force.

B of M Personal Chequing Service Cuts Banking Costs in Paying Bills

Paying for goods and services by personal cheque is a safe, convenient and inexpensive method of handling household and personal expenses. Now it's been made even more economical by the introduction of Bank of Montreal personal chequing accounts, which reduce the cost of each cheque to only ten cents.

Instead of writing cheques against your savings account, or business-type current account, you can now operate your own personal chequing account at a lower rate. With this new type of personalized account, you are charged a set rate of only ten cents per cheque cashed, thus eliminating extra bookkeeping, making it possible for the bank to pass on the saving to you.

IN PARLIAMENT

1951 Debate Recalled In Combines Clash

(From Times News Service)

Ottawa—The Commons debate on the contentious anti-combines legislation began to develop Wednesday as largely a reconstruction of the 1951 argument over resale price maintenance.

In that year the former Liberal government, ushered through Parliament a legislative taboo against the practice of manufacturers laying down their own retail prices. The Progressive Conservatives, then in opposition, opposed the measure vigorously.

Now the Liberals complain and the CCF is following the Liberal line closely on this point, that the present Conservative government, through amendments it now has before the House, is seeking to undo everything accomplished by the 1951 Liberal enactment.

In brief, the amendments would change the 1951 ban to make it possible for the manufacturers to refuse to sell their goods to stores persistently using those goods as loss-leaders, articles advertised and sold below cost in order to attract buyers for more profitable merchandise.

Arnold Peters (CCF, Temiskaming) said Wednesday: "The proposals will effectively eliminate the ban on resale price maintenance. They will provide no effective protection, either short or long term, for the small dealer."

"They will open the door to discriminatory practices and strengthen the position of the large distributor who controls private brands, and will place in the hands of the manufacturer a degree of control over the final price of his product that is denied to other groups in the economy."

'To Help Small Businessman'—Tory

Gordon Aiken (PC, Parry Sound-Muskoka), claimed the opposition has turned to "historical rhetoric and technical arguments to conceal the fact that this legislation is intended to help the small businessman."

Retail merchants associations and small businessmen had asked for the change.

Erhart Regier (CCF, Burnaby-Coquitlam), said the amendments will "completely eliminate the little bit of effectiveness which exists in the law as it is now on the statute books."

He said Justice Minister Fulton, in sponsoring the amendments, "is asking the House to agree to a lessening of restraints and conditions, opening the door wide to the exploitation of the consumers in the interests of the monopolies."

'Small Borrower Needs Protection'

Senator William Wall (L, Manitoba) said Wednesday he believes Parliament should take a protective attitude toward the small borrower "in view of the complexity of modern loan transactions."

He spoke in support of a bill which would require lenders to provide a sum-total figure for all charges on a loan and a percentage figure in terms of simple interest. The debate was adjourned until later.

Senator Muriel Fergusson (L, New Brunswick) said the Croll bill is an attempt to deal with "one of the most serious social problems of our time."

"Unquestionably, under our present system of instalment buying and of securing money on second mortgages many abuses of credulous, naive, ignorant and unthinking people are taking place."

Ottawa—Heavy jobless rolls have cut the unemployment insurance fund's balance by more than 50 per cent in the past four years.

Labor Minister Michael Starr told the Commons the fund totalled $324,986,215 April 30 compared with $454,462,498 a year ago, $893,102,896 two years ago and $854,607,845 three years ago.

A call for still more consultation among NATO members was issued Wednesday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

He told the Commons that the collapse of the summit meeting in Paris has prompted among the 15 members of the alliance a greater realization of the need for unity and "a new feeling of cohesiveness."

Mr. Diefenbaker said he hopes the various NATO member countries will "emphasize still more the necessity of fuller consultation" in affairs concerning them. Only through full consultation would complete unity be possible.

Mr. Diefenbaker also said his discussions with President Eisenhower in Washington on Friday will cover a variety of matters, including NATO unity. There was no agenda for the meeting.

The government has set up a committee to consider the future of the crown-owned Polymer Corporation at Sarnia, Ont., defence production Minister O'Hurley said.

He Owned Car Just One Day Too Many

Motorist Clarence Edward Passmore, 1120 View, had owned his car only a day when he rolled it over on a curve in Sooke Road at 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Colwood RCMP said he was shaken up but otherwise unhurt in the crash, one of three between 4:20 and 11 p.m. in Greater Victoria.

Passmore's car apparently went out of control near Dendy Flats, a mile west of Glen Lake. He bought it Monday.

Two women are in hospital with injuries received in the other crashes.

Mrs. Jean Hanley, 66, of 3830 Saul, is in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital with chest injury received when the car in which she was riding was in collision with another car at Bay and Blanshard.

Hans Hartung, 40, of 1040 Princess, was treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital for chest injury and released.

The cars were driven by Mrs. Walfrid Hartung and Dominic Hanley, 1670 Sheridan, police said.

At 11 p.m. a car driven by Mrs. Betty White, 1171 Kings, was in collision with a pole on Sooke Road near Colwood Elementary School, sending her to St. Joseph's Hospital with face cuts. Her condition is good.

CLUBS, GAS BREAK UP ROMAN CATHOLIC RIOT

WARSAW (Reuters)—Polish Communist authorities are faced with increased tension between church and state following the second major battle in little more than a month between police and citizens over a religious issue.

Reports reaching here said some 5,000 Catholics fought a pitched battle with police on Monday in Zielona Gora, western Poland, after civil authorities tried to take over a building used by the local church.

Reinforcements had to be summoned from Poznan, more than 60 miles away, to quell the crowd. They used tear gas and clubs to disperse the demonstrators.

Arrested Turks Held on Island

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—A majority of Turkey's last National Assembly is under arrest on an island off Istanbul.

A spokesman for the new military government said 403 of the 406 deputies from ousted premier Adnan Menderes' Democratic party had been seized this week after some were caught trying to stir up opposition to the new regime. Several women were among those arrested.

Most of the deputies were flown to the island fortress of Yassiadra. The old assembly, which the armed forces dissolved after overthrowing Menderes May 27, had 610 members.

Nearly all the Democratic deputies were picked up in the first hours of the coup, but most were released after being held a few hours.

About 1,500 persons have been rounded up in the last few days to prevent attempts to undermine the provisional government headed by Gen. Cemal Gursel, according to unofficial reports.

Five generals, including the former chief of the general staff, Rushtu Erdelhan, have been taken into custody.

Reuters news agency reported Wednesday that a revolutionary spokesman had said the bodies of murdered victims of the Menderes regime have been found in common graves and refrigeration chambers in Ankara and Istanbul. Reuters quoted this spokesman as saying that members of the Menderes regime might face death sentences for murder.

Menderes and former president Celal Bayar are still being held in the Ankara War College, where they were reported today as being "calm about the situation."

In the Open

WHEN THIS NEWSPAPER, noted, weeks ago, the clear clash of policy between the Canadian and British Columbia Governments on the Columbia power problem, these reports were attacked by provincial spokesmen as inaccurate and irresponsible. Now they are publicly confirmed, despite Mr. Fulton's attempt to minimize differences.

In a letter to the Vernon-Progressive Conservative Association, Mr. Davie Fulton, Canadian minister of justice, says that "immediate construction and early completion" of the Mica Creek dam would be a necessary part of any Columbia River agreement between Canada and the United States. Exactly as reported here, the Canadian Government regards the Mica Creek dam as the essential keystone to the whole Columbia power scheme.

But Mr. Kiernan, provincial minister of mines and spokesman for the Bennett Government, rejects Mr. Fulton's basic premise. He says he cannot agree that the Mica Creek dam should have first priority on the Columbia. He refuses flatly to support Mr. Fulton's assurance that this dam shall be the first stage in the Columbia's development.

The provincial Government (though it still refuses to reveal its policy in detail) obviously favors another plan entirely.

It would first install a dam on the Arrow Lakes, close to the American boundary. This structure would flood a vast and valuable area around the Arrow Lakes, it would increase the output of American power plants south of the border and provide Canada with a share of these downstream benefits. But the Arrow dam would produce only a small and irregular supply of electricity within Canada.

The Mica Creek dam, on the other hand, would provide maximum downstream benefits and, when they were all in use, would produce a huge volume of extra electricity at the dam site for Canadian consumers.

The policy now publicly announced by Mr. Fulton is so clearly the right policy that the public may well ask why the British Columbia Government has refused so far to accept it. The reason for this refusal is equally clear.

If the Columbia is dammed on the Arrow Lakes, the master dam at Mica Creek will be delayed for many years. In the meantime Canada will receive its share of the downstream benefits created in the United States, but they will be insufficient to serve our needs for very long.

With no extra power available at Mica Creek, the British Columbia Government will have a convincing reason to dam the Peace River and carry its relatively expensive power into the Lower Mainland. The success of the Peace River promotion depends primarily on a delay in the Columbia project, and Mr. Mainwaring of the Peace scheme has lately been making more speeches downgrading the Columbia.

It would suit the Peace River promoters best, of course, if the whole Columbia project could be postponed indefinitely for then they could argue that the Peace provided the only possible alternative, regardless of the cost of electricity.

If the Columbia is to be developed in some form, the next best arrangement so far as the Peace promoters are concerned would be an incomplete cart-before-horse Columbia scheme. Hence the Arrow Lake dam. And hence, too, Mr. Fulton's announcement that his Government will accept nothing but the full electrical development of the Columbia by the construction of the Mica Creek dam.

Now that this dispute between Victoria and Ottawa has come into the open it is much easier to understand why Canada makes slow progress in negotiations with the United States on the division of the Columbia's power resources. In such a gigantic undertaking there would be difficulties enough if Canada entered the negotiations united, but it is plainly divided between the federal and provincial Governments—the former trying to assure a maximum development of the international river, the latter obsessed with the Wenner-Gren promotion on the Peace.

Lester Patrick

THERE MAY HAVE BEEN BETTER hockey players than Lester Patrick, though that is doubtful. But no better man ever played hockey. To most of North America he was known mainly as a great performer and manager of sport. In Victoria we all knew him to be much more than that. He was as fine a citizen as he was an athlete. From the days when he first played on the boys' rinks of Quebec he learned a deep love for Canada and knew every part of it intimately. More than most of our statesmen he carried to the United States when he lived there an image of our country which made every Canadian proud.

As long as the game of hockey is played Lester Patrick will be remembered as one of its giants. Even in life he had already become a legend and his adventures on the ice a Canadian epic. But his fellow townsmen will remember him more as a gentleman in the finest sense of that word who never let his team, his friends, or his nation down; who above all had become a hero of Canadian boyhood and taught it how the game of life should be played.

Back-Door Censorship

THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT is worried, and rightly worried, about the spread of pornographic literature but it is trying to solve this problem in a strange and doubtful way.

Four gentlemen who are called experts have been appointed as a panel to study new books that may be considered obscene. If they find a book objectionable they will report it to a central book distributing agency which has promised to withdraw it from sale immediately. The same arrangements will cover magazines and other publications.

The Ontario Government denies that it intends to establish any system of censorship but what is this but censorship under another name?

"The panel," as The Toronto Star remarks, "would be making its decisions secretly, in effect. The reading public might not even know what was being 'voluntarily' suppressed, and why."

The Star is right in saying that decisions on obscene publications should be left with the courts; acting on a new definition of obscenity placed in the Criminal Code last year.

No provincial government has the right to by-pass the courts and establish a system of censorship, however good its motives may be. The courts should decide each case of this sort brought before them, on the basis of the law, not on the opinion of amateur experts and actual censors.

Canada's New Mountain

THE PEOPLE IN CITIES MUCH less blessed by nature than Victoria show an admirable ingenuity in improving their looks.

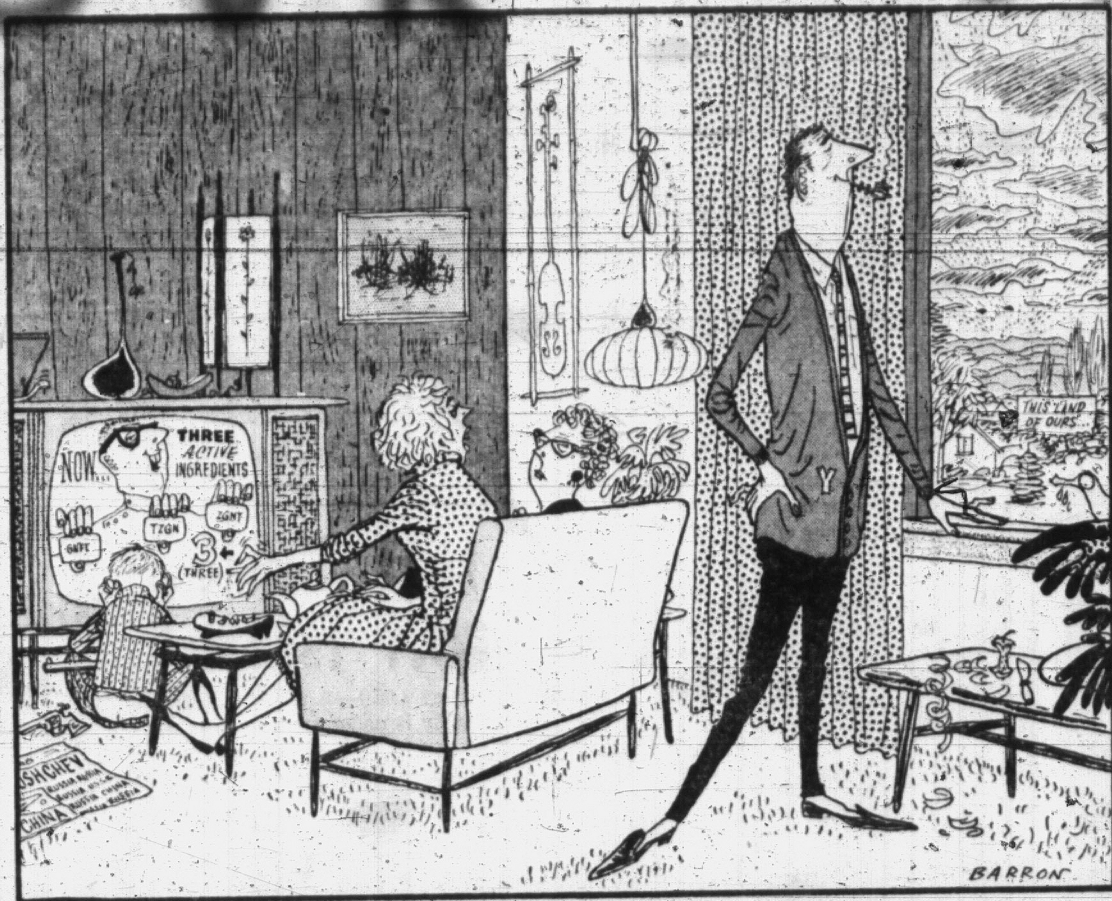

In West Berlin, Germany, for example, that fateful pin-point of the world struggle, every usable stone and brick dislodged by wartime bombardment was carefully saved and built into the walls of a new city. The useless rubble and stone dust was piled up in a little mountain, covered with earth and turned into a delightful park of trees, grass and flowers. Now we hear that the people of Winnipeg have done the same thing with their civic garbage dump.

Once the home and breeding place of rats as numerous as those of Hanover in Browning's poem concerning the Pied Piper, the Winnipeg dump is becoming a verdant hill for public enjoyment.

Obviously the good people of Winnipeg have not lost in urban surroundings that old frontier spirit which made a farm land of the barren western plains. They use what they have, even if it is only garbage. And so a man-made monument, unique in that rich, flat land, has risen in the prairies' largest city. For the first time Winnipeg has a hill, not as large as some in British Columbia, considerably smaller than our modest Gonzales, but a hill just the same, on which the nation must offer its congratulations.

Next we shall hear that the Winnipeg Alpine Climbers Association has organized an expedition to climb that pleasant civic peak. Everest may offer a greater challenge but then Everest was not made by men of garbage.

"Henry is spending a half-hour every evening being calm and resolute, having faith and fighting defeatism... says it's our duty in times like these..."

LOOSE ENDS

The Harmless Thunder on the Left

CERTAIN events at the Summit may alarm the world in general but they will not alarm anyone who has been properly educated in the inevitable failure of the Communist Revolution.

Older Canadians, men of my generation who were high school boys in 1917, knew from the start that the thing must fail. In the first place, as we were assured by every expert in our youthful days, Communism was unsuited to the peculiar Russian temperament. Even Marx had noted that obvious fact and regarded Russia as hopeless ground for Communism.

EVERYBODY knew what the poor Russians were like. You could read it in any of their novels. They had no interest in politics and only wanted to sit around a samovar in a dark restaurant playing a kind of native banjo, drinking vodka and planning the next assassination. They were just dreamers, poets and musicians living on memories and caviar.

Anyway, by 1918, the Revolution had completely failed. Communism was in full retreat before the irresistible armies of counter-revolution. The Russian economy was in chaos, money was valueless, the trains wouldn't run on time and Mr. Trotsky had shown himself to be nothing but a low comedian with a funny mustache.

BESIDES, the new Communist government couldn't last long for two fundamental reasons inherent in the Russian lands and people, and explained in a library of scientific American books.

Russia lacked the basic resources of a modern industrial state. It just didn't have the stuff. And even if it had, the resources couldn't be properly developed because the clumsy Russian peasant was unable to master machinery.

This was proved, year after year, by the break-down of the farm tractors, the pitifully low output of consumer goods, the disorganized transportation system and the failure of the plumbing in the Moscow hotels. You could never make a mechanic out of a Russian.

Moreover, the oppressed masses, starving on Stalin's communal farms, would soon rise up, destroy the whole insane experiment and return to normal like the rest of us. Every educated young Canadian was aware that normality waited just around the corner. It still does.

MEANWHILE it became equally obvious that Communism must always be hopelessly incompetent and inefficient. It could never mobilize the nation's resources, such as they were. It was wasteful, cumbersome and unimaginative. It squandered all its energies on the quarrels of the Kremlin magnates until the entire apparatus was collapsing under the weight of statistics, five-year plans, charts and diagrams pictured daily in the humorous cartoon of the civilized world.

The thing would have been funny if it had not been so tragic. We were all sorry for the Russians.

No one doubted, therefore, that when Hitler lunged into Russia he would conquer it without strain because the Russian army was honey-combed with politics, discontent and revolution. When the inevitable somehow failed to occur we all knew that Russia had beaten Hitler in spite of Communism.

THIS was so clear, indeed, that after the victory President Roosevelt realized at once that he could do business with that genial old gentleman, Uncle Joe, who wasn't a Communist after all but just an ordinary Russian patriot (fortunately lacking an atom bomb).

Everything was easily fixed up at Yalta. The job had taken somewhat longer than the experts expected but by now all the nonsense and sting was taken out of the Revolution. After the storm, the thunder on the left was seen to contain no lightning.

If Stalin sometimes became a bit cranky, his departure was followed by the arrival of a laughing, roly-poly peasant who only wanted to drink champagne and make folksy speeches.

HE might pretend a faith in the original doctrine for political purposes but there was nothing revolutionary about Mr. K. You could look at his grinning face and see no shadow of Marx, not the slightest trace of genuine Communism. He kissed babies, shook hands with American farmers, ate hot dogs and cracked corny jokes like any honest democratic politician.

Of course he may have to put on a show of hysterics now and then but every educated Westerner knows that he is only playing a little politics to satisfy his backward colleagues, the army and the Chinese, who are not true Communists either. Anyone who was old enough to read in 1917 can be sure that the Revolution was beaten by the laws of nature and Russian temperament before it started.

Knowing what they possess, they do not believe that war will be initiated consciously by any other method than the massive surprise attack designed to destroy the bulk of the retaliatory forces. Equally they have never believed that the Russians (in spite of Mr. Khrushchev's warnings about a single pilot bringing on the holocaust) would react this way to the odd aircraft; and the fact that U-2 flights have gone over Russia without causing warnings of massive retaliation suggests that the Russians are equally realistic.

The position is therefore much safer than many people imagine. No head of Government has shown any tendency to initiate the destruction of himself and his people because he fears someone might be attacking him. It nevertheless remains true that some day someone in control of a weapon may create an incident.

Diplomacy, with its massive disarmament conferences making unacceptable proposals, might well address itself to the elementary task of creating machinery for dealing with accidental and unauthorized situations of this kind.

General Power, the commander of the Strategic Air Command has said exactly the same thing about B.M.E.W.S. information as Dr. York. He would use it for an alert and get his bombers off the ground; but he would not be prepared to take the irrevocable step of firing ballistic missiles. The order to use American nuclear weapons must in any case come from the President.

The public does not generally grasp the realism and caution shown by those who command these weapons. Senior staff officers at the Strategic Air Command headquarters in the United States make it quite clear that they would not regard a single bomber or even half-dozen bombers as a direct invitation to massive retaliation.

Leading Authority

It is interesting to contrast this with the latest opinion of Dr. Herbert York, who, as director of Defence Research for the United States Defence Department, is probably the leading authority in the field.

The problem, he said, was one of false alarms and spurious signals. When asked how he would be able to ensure that he had detected an actual attack of intercontinental missiles in quantity he said:

"I personally doubt you ever will be sure enough so that you would be willing to launch your missiles on warning from B.M.E.W.S. But you will be sure enough to be able to take action such as to make use of the ground alert posture and to get aircraft off and do all other things which are of a recallable nature. ... You can develop sufficient assurance in the system so that you would do everything short of an unrecallable commitment."

When Representative George Mahon said he thought it would be "the great-

Canada Defenceless

By Maj. Gen. W. H. S. Macklin

WITH assiduous and unsurpassed fidelity the Parliamentary Committee on defence continues to thrash the dead straw of the Arrow-Bomarc controversy. They employ all the persistence of a singing commercial in reiterating and comparing the technical characteristics of these obsolete and ineffectual machines, and all the while the latest Russian satellite of man-carrying size sails at intervals over Ottawa, making a nonsense of the whole proceeding.

While this goes on the morale of our armed forces continues to sag lower. The RCAF now finds itself not only a mere appendage of the United States Air Force, but increasingly archaic and helpless in that role. Its CF-100 interceptors would be pushed all out to embarrass the flights of TCA's newest jets.

I long ago predicted that unless the government rearm the air force with modern aircraft wielding useful air power, the force would gradually disappear. Already the Defence Minister is hinting at that fate.

As for the army, it struggles unhappily with worn and aging equipment of types mostly more akin to the Boer War than to the needs of 1960. It has no air lift, nor any tactical air support. It has no reserves at all.

The various "streamlining" operations it has undergone are now seen to have been simply amputations, a root severed here, and a limb lopped off there.

Apply Lessons

Now that the Summit conference has exploded in a remarkable exhibition of Russian intransigence and bellicosity it surely devolves on us to try to learn a few lessons about our defence policy from this event, and then to apply them.

The first thing made manifest has been the utter ineffectiveness of what our self-styled experts keep referring to as "air defences." We have the spectacle of an American aircraft coming to earth in the middle of Russia with the pilot alive and his equipment intact. The Russians say they shot it down with a rocket, but circumstances belie that story, and probably few believe it.

The conspicuous feature is not the shooting down, but that the plane got half way across Russia and the declared fact that this was only the last of many flights of the same sort.

It has been shown that Russia's defences can be penetrated at will by manned aircraft of no exceptional speed, and notable only for a high ceiling. There is not the smallest reason to assume that Russian defences are less effective than ours, and some have asserted that they are better.

The incident of the spy plane confirms that the North American Air Defences cannot now, and never could, defend us even against manned bombers, if the attackers carry nuclear bombs each able to annihilate a city.

The vast sums which we have sunk in these defences have been wasted, and there is no prospect that future expenditures will be any more fruitful. What further lessons do we need before we terminate this hopeless attempt to produce a direct military defence against the nuclear bomb and put our money and our air force to better use?

Negligible Value

What possible sense can there be in continuing to squander great resources on an organization whose usefulness for our safety is so obviously negligible? Right from its beginning NORAD has dissipated the resources of the alliance instead of augmenting them.

The next thing we had better look at is our defence setup in Europe under NATO, for this has been allowed to atrophy while we hoped that Khrushchev, for once, would be reasonable.

The 12 air squadrons in Europe are just as obsolete as the nine squadrons here at home. Plans are in hand to rearm eight of them with the American Starfighter, but few seem to realize that this involves a complete somersault in the military function of these eight squadrons.

From a purely defensive role they will be transformed into simon-pure offensive units with nuclear bombs aimed at targets far behind the front. The fact that we are simply ditching the defensive function only shows how useless it was all along.

The one army brigade overseas can hardly be said to be fit for war in 1960. Its armament is mostly old, its transport aging. Its mobility is limited and its fighting capability weakened by the total lack of supporting power.

Its cost is enormously increased and its military efficiency gravely hampered by the presence of several thousand of its women and children living in a Canadian enclave in the middle of Germany. Finally, I repeat, there are no reserves of any kind behind it; all is in the front window.

Defence Doldrums?

All Western authorities are agreed that the collapse of the Summit conference will be followed by increased tension and danger. Is Canada to face this by leaving our defence policy, and the armed forces with it, static in the doldrums of confusion and ineptitude into which they have drifted?

I would rather say that the time has come for a brand new appreciation of our defence needs and capabilities.

The lesson of the spy plane is that, if war is to be nuclear war our armed forces, and in particular our "air defences," are not going to save us. The maintenance of the nuclear deterrent should be left in the hands of the nuclear powers. We should withdraw from the all-nuclear strategy of massive retaliation which can be as effective without us as with us.

And then we should create one unified armed force, mobile, modern, and ready for war.

The conception advanced the other day by the defence minister that we should bungle along trying to provide small components to fit on to the war chariots of our allies is hardly calculated to enhance the national status about which we boast and which we really need in a dangerous world.

From Our Files

June 2, 1900 — Out at Cedar Hill last night a rousing campaign meeting was held. The pretentious little school house, scene of the event, was filled.

June 2, 1920 — Edmonton: A posse today was looking for a man who is alleged to have murdered two children, a boy and girl, aged 10 and 15, respectively. He may be in the woods.

June 2, 1940 — London: The Admiralty announced the Royal Navy lost 30 ships, six destroyers and six minor craft, in evacuating Allied forces from Dunkirk.

Breast Cancer Cure

In recent years there has been a great tendency to try to stop the growth of breast cancer in women by removing just the ovaries, then perhaps the adrenal glands, and finally, perhaps, the pineal hypophysis, which lies at the base of the brain above the cavity of the nose. A while ago when I was visiting at the University of California in Berkeley I saw how they were destroying this little gland with powerful rays from a cyclotron. In most places they remove the gland with a difficult operation.

Alvarez

I was just reading a report on this work by Drs. A. G. Jessiman, D. D. Matson, and F. D. Moore of Harvard University. They say they have performed this type of operation for 53 women with scattered breast cancer. All these women had already had their ovaries removed, and most of them had received a lot of X-ray and male hormone treatment. In 10 of the patients, treatment produced signs of some healing of the scattered daughter cancers, and with this, usually there was a lessening of pain.

Among these 10 patients the average duration of the let-up in symptoms was 12 months, and the average survival time was 15 months. Today, some of the women are still living, and hence the average survival time may be lengthened. The course of the disease was altered for the better in two out of three of the cases. The question still in the minds of most old family doctors is, is it worth a few months' extra life to undergo so many big operations, especially when there is one chance in three that they won't do any good? When they don't help, they just cause much suffering, and the expenditure of many thousands of dollars.

In that interesting journal "The Star," published in Carville, Louisiana, I read that learned American rabbis now say that in the Old Testament the Hebrew word usually translated as leprosy really means a number of diseases. It can be pronounced tzara'at, or tzara, and is derived from a root meaning to smite, or strike. This suggests that the ancient Jews thought of the disease whatever it was—as a "stroke" from an angry God. What has always interested me which is that nowhere in the Biblical description of "leprosy" have I found anything that resembles the picture of Hansen's disease as we doctors know it today. Recently, a learned writer in the "Star" pointed out also, that most of what, in the Middle Ages, was called leprosy was not that disease.

The important point is that Hansen's disease is contagious at all, is only slightly so, and hence should not be regarded with fear or horror. Today, many of the patients are being cured, and when they are cured, they are well. No one need fear them.

Because measles can be a very serious disease, one that can produce all sorts of complications in an occasional child—it is good to read that at a meeting of the N.Y. Academy of Medicine, Drs. Samuel L. Katz and John F. Ende of Harvard reported that a promising "attenuated live vaccine" has been made which, in 77 of 79 children, produced a very mild form of measles that hardly bothered anyone. The children did not have to stay in bed. It is hoped that this mild illness will now protect the children from ever getting a severe form of measles. The virus was "attenuated" or weakened by passing it 70 times through chick embryos in eggs.

At a recent meeting of the Society of University Surgeons, Drs. Jerome H. Sacks, Richard F. Clark and Richard H. Egdahl of the Medical College of Virginia reported having found that a substance called FHA, when injected into rats, would protect 55 per cent of the animals from developing certain tumors that ordinarily are easily transplantable from one rat to another. This suggests that some day before we get a cure for cancer, we may get a sort of vaccine that will protect us from getting a tumor. The FHA produces a sort of infection in the animal, and this leaves an immunity.

HIGH-STAKE DICE GAME OPERATED BY OFFICER

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says investigators have learned that a former member of the provincial police anti-gambling squad operated a high-stake card and dice game in downtown Toronto while he was on the squad.

The report said the officer and a partner ran the game at the rear of a large hotel.

North Railway 'Hoax' Charged by Finlayson

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C. Conservative Leader Deane Finlayson said Wednesday night that a hoax is being perpetrated on the province's voters in connection with the proposed Prince George-Yukon border-Pacific Northern Railway.

The proposed railway would cost $250,000,000, and the investors would require a return of at least $15,000,000 annually. Mr. Finlayson told a West End Conservative meeting.

The PGE, which travels through settled communities, makes an annual gross return of $12,000,000, but the proposed railway "has not a single ham-

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Who Has Vegetables Anyway?

Tuesday's column on the thinning of vegetables caused a lot of nice people to enquire politely "Who has any vegetables to thin?" Or more to the point, who has any vegetables? These are the gardeners with whom the season, the soil and the weather have failed to co-operate, and some are toying with the idea of taking drastic action, such as giving the seedlings a big dose of dynamite (or fertilizer) to give them a lift.

Best advice I can give is not to do anything to the seedlings that you would not do to your baby. When baby fails to grow and gain weight, steaks are not the remedy. Nor is fertilizer going to help the seedlings. If the soil was prepared and fertilized as advised last month, there will be plenty of food for the seedlings as soon as they can handle it. Adding more could do harm rather than good.

As the soil and air temperatures increase, both of which are evident in the past week, the seedlings will respond. The greatest help we can give is the shelter of glass in one way or another. And by the time we have devised a way, the seedlings will, most likely, not be needing our help.

Keep the soil loose so that warm air can penetrate. Keep the surface moist so that the tiny roots can get the moisture they must have to make growth. Shelter them from strong winds if at all possible. Help them if you can, but do not kill them with boosters they are unable to handle.

Latest Polio Victims Both Good

A Victorian, and a Port Alberni boy, suffering from polio at the Royal Jubilee Hospital are in good condition, hospital officials said today.

Mrs. Olive Wilson of 3161 Orillia and Dennis Frykas, 6, of Port Alberni, were admitted to the hospital over the weekend. Neither is confined to a respirator.

The two new patients raised the total number of polio cases since the start of the year to seven. Meanwhile, health officials announced that second doses of Salk anti-polio vaccine for Victoria and Esquimalt adults who had first doses in May will be given at four clinics in the next two weeks.

The vaccine shots will be given at the Esquimalt municipal hall Friday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., at 1947 Cook Wednesday from 1 to 7, at Fairfield United Church June 10 from 1:30 to 3:30 and at the Royal Jubilee Hospital lecture room June 14 from 1:30 to 3:30.

'Package' Misinterpreted In Arrow Hydro Report

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Williston said Wednesday that the federal government's offer to build a dam and power plant on the Arrow Lakes, Justice Minister Williston, told the Commons Wednesday.

Mr. Williston said he "accepts unreservedly" Mr. Williston's denial, given Tuesday night when Mr. Fulton phoned the B.C. minister long distance following press reports that such a package offer has been made in connection with the Columbia River project.

Mr. Williston said he was told that when asked a certain question by a reporter in Victoria, Mr. Williston said the latest indications are that a dam and power plant on the Arrow Lakes would be feasible. Mr. Williston went "that far only," Mr. Fulton told the House. There was no offer of a package deal.

WILLISTON, denial

(The reference to a "package" deal in the story carried by the Times on Tuesday was purely in regard to the fact that it has now been discovered the High Arrow dam could produce some "on site" power as well as storage facilities.

(The use of the word "package" was, apparently, interpreted in the East to refer to the entire Columbia project, and was obviously open to misinterpretation.)

(Up to this time it had always been suggested the High Arrow would do nothing more than store water, for release at appropriate times to give the U.S. downstream benefits.)

(The Ottawa government, it is understood, has insisted that development of a power-producing dam at Mica Creek was of prime importance in the Columbia River development.)

(The question then arose whether the High Arrow dam should be the first or the Mica Creek project.)

(In discussing the creation of "on-site" power at High Arrow Mr. Williston used the term "package" simply in the sense that the project would include both storage and power.)

SHELBOURNE, COLWOOD TO GET LIQUOR SHOPS

The government Wednesday confirmed liquor stores will be built at the Shelbourne and Colwood shopping centres.

Extensions at the present plazas will be built soon, said Col. Donald McGugan, chairman of the liquor control board. The two new liquor outlets would be open by late summer.

The Shelbourne expansion will go farther. L. T. Hurst, president of Capital Holdings Ltd., developer of both centres, said a bank and several new stores would be added at cost of about $400,000.

The shopping centre would then run from Cedar Hill Cross Road to Pear St.

Mr. Hurst said similar expansion might become soon at Colwood, although nothing was definite yet.

Famed 'Mary' to Be Replaced?

LONDON (Reuters) — A government-sponsored committee of the House of Commons suggested replacing the Queen Mary and recommended Wednesday that the government provide a 4½ per cent loan worth $50,400,000 to the Cunard Company the owner of both ships, put the remainder to finance the construction of the Southampton vessel capable of carrying 2,270 passengers.

The report, read in the House of Commons, suggested replacing the Queen Mary and recommended Wednesday that the government provide a 4½ per cent loan worth $50,400,000 to the Cunard Company the owner of both ships, put the remainder to finance the construction of the Southampton vessel capable of carrying 2,270 passengers.

'Sensational' Raids Protested by Chinese

VANCOUVER (CP) — Leaders of Vancouver's Chinese community Wednesday night drew up resolutions condemning police actions and describing Canada's immigration laws as inhuman and discriminatory.

The resolutions, resulting from recent country-wide investigations in connection with mass illegal entry of Chinese into Canada, will be sent to Immigration Minister Fairclough and Justice Minister Fulton.

The community leaders asked

Mr. Fulton "to direct the police officers who have, however inadvertently, caused the sensationalism and implied accusations against our entire people, to live up to the fine tradition of Canadian justice."

It also asks the justice minister "to review the whole procedure which made possible such gross violations of the principle of fair play that has characterized Canadian law enforcement."

UNFAIR LAWS

A resolution, directed to Mrs. Fairclough asked for recognition of the "unfortunate and unfair laws which create hardship and heartbreak for many people, together with immigration procedures which are well known for their delays and for their inhumanity."

These procedures have created an atmosphere, it says, within which individuals may, in desperation, turn to means "not countenanced by this community or by the law."

"One cure is to humanize and de-brutalize our laws of immigration as they apply to Chinese," it stated. "The solution is not to create an aura of criminality around a whole racial group."

Ontario Eases Liquor Ad Laws

TORONTO (CP) — A relaxation of Ontario's tight restrictions in liquor advertising will be made next August or September, Premier Frost announced Tuesday.

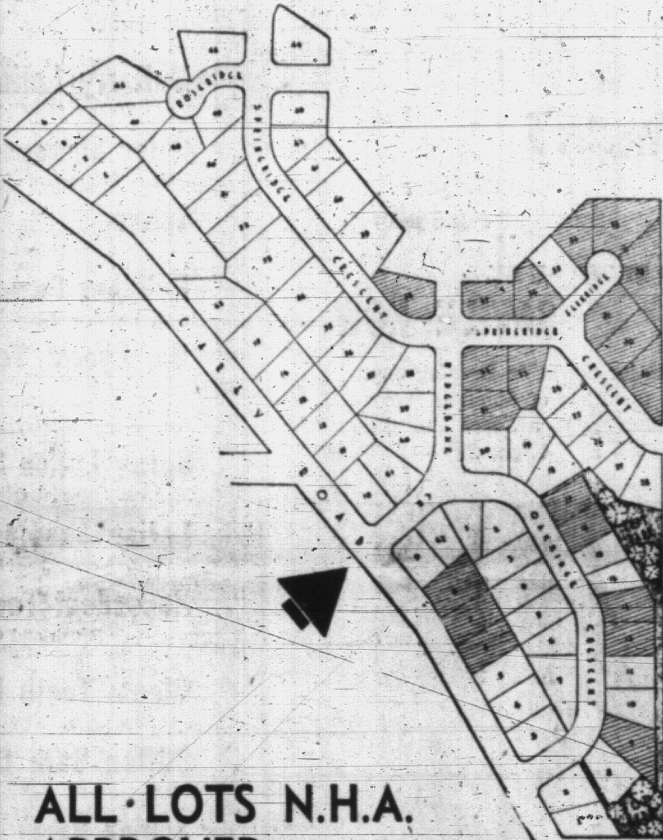

He said a new code of ethics for liquor ads would allow beer and liquor companies to use trade names, labels and slogans in newspapers and periodicals.

Such ads, he said, would have to feature messages of a public service nature. Charitable or cultural campaigns could be advertised.

The premier said bottles, glasses or scenes of drinking would not be allowed in the ads.

Even Experts Disagree

DELINQUENCY ON SCIENTISTS BLAME PLACED

VANCOUVER (CP)—A retired school principal said Wednesday he believes that social scientists are among the greatest contributors to juvenile delinquency.

Stanley Meadows, 70, a school principal and teacher for 44 years, told an open forum at the B.C. Corrections Association meeting that psychologists and others in the social sciences are doing an important job.

Many, however, were not helping matters in the field of education and disciplining of youth.

Children need and appreciate discipline, he said.

"Contributing to juvenile delinquency is a crime in our country," he continued. "Yet among the greatest contributors to juvenile delinquency today are the social scientists who have been allowed to paint a policy of permissiveness and have given the kids a bum steer."

Mr. Meadows said he sees faint hope for a solution in the recently announced federal plan for forced treatment of addicts, treatment in medical institutions following jail sentences, long periods of parole supervision—and stiffer penalties for traffickers.

To prevent drug addiction occurring he advocated non-contact of the addict and non-addict in institutions and more adequate policing.

INDIANS

'Culture Must Enter The Homes'

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's Indians will not be integrated with the rest of the population until white man's society "infiltrates" the Indian home, a parliamentary committee was told Wednesday.

Rev. Andre Renaud of Ottawa made the statement in presenting a Canadian Catholic Conference brief to the joint Commons-Senate committee on Indian affairs.

The brief said, in effect, that the white man has done a poor job of educating young Indians because the schools he runs for them do not equip them for life.

This was because the Indian child came from a different culture and a school system designed for white culture was not suitable for him.

The long-term answer was to "infiltrate the Indian home with our culture," Father Renaud said. "Indians should have libraries, television, radio, good housing, appliances, a higher standard of living, books and newspapers. This would help prepare the next generation of Indians to take their place as full partners with whites."

Two Guilty In Assault

Two young men were convicted in Saanich police court Tuesday for assaulting a father after forcing his car off Douglas Street May 15.

Richard Keith Sanders, 28, of 845 Princess, and Charles Wesley Johnson, 21, of 1157 Johnson, were remanded for sentence by Magistrate William Ostler who found the pair guilty after a lengthy trial.

Two others, Robin Adkin, 20, of 1641 Cedar and Harold Walter Neufeld, 20, of 619 Avalon, who were charged jointly with Sanders and Johnson, were released when the charge against them was dismissed.

Gerald John Williams, 339 Colow, said he drove his family on Douglas at midnight when a car containing the four accused came alongside and Sanders began grinning and gesturing from the front passenger window.

At the same time, the other car slowed and speeded up to keep pace with Williams' car, edging it over to the roadside until Williams turned off at a service station at Tolmie, Williams said.

Its occupants came over to Williams' car and two struggled with the complainant before attendant called police.

One of the other two was quoted as saying: "Let's let them go. They've got babies in the car."

Williams said Sanders had been drinking.

A charge against Johnson, of drinking in a public place, is still to be dealt with.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The average addict must pay $500 a month of narcotics as a social problem, said Mr. Oliver, and to join according to views aired at the B.C. Corrections Association conference Wednesday.

Parole officer Boyce said every young addict but one released from nearby Oakalla prison in the last year has returned to "addiction on the first day of his release."

Key Health Men From Essondale To New Offices

Deputy Health Minister Dr. Allen E. Davidson and key officials have been moved from Essondale Provincial Mental Hospital to new quarters in a health services building on the site of Vancouver General Hospital.

Health Minister Martin said this was a result of the reorganization of his department after a separate social welfare ministry was set up last year.

A new branch was created—mental health services—under Dr. Davidson.

Mr. Oliver said he sees faint hope for a solution in the recently announced federal plan for forced treatment of addicts, treatment in medical institutions following jail sentences, long periods of parole supervision—and stiffer penalties for traffickers.

To prevent drug addiction occurring he advocated non-contact of the addict and non-addict in institutions and more adequate policing.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. W. V. (Betty) McDonald, a past-president of the B.C. Parent-Teacher Association and an active social worker here, went to bat for the weaker sex Wednesday at the B.C. Corrections Association meeting.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Whenever stars get together, they talk about their experiences they have had with fans, and usually, they relate some "bring down" Barbara Rush in now getting to the point where about everybody who goes to the movies or watches TV has a glimmer of an idea who she is, it's flattering to her to notice this fame creeping up on her.

Recently she visited the home of Rock Hudson. He told her he had succeeded in getting a print of one of the greatest things he'd ever done and he couldn't wait to have her see it.

BARBARA RUSH fame comes slowly

JACK PAAR songwriter

She waited with real anticipation in the projection room. And before her unrolled "Taza, Son of Cochise."

ONE OF THE WORST

It was one of her first pictures — and her first opposite him. It was also one of the worst either ever made — and this was Hudson's gag.

Hudson remembered, when some fans rushed up to him and Barbara in an elevator and opened the door — and said: "Nobody."

But Barbara's husband, Warren Cowan, recalled when Kirk Douglas got to the point where he was first recognized. One day in the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, a woman fan situated at her husband, as she pointed to Kirk, "It's HIM!" Kirk looked at her evenly and said, "It's HE!"

He probably lost one fan.

Frank Sinatra took his butler — wait'll the boys in Hasbrouck Heights, N.J., read that! — on a song called "Everything's Coming Up Crabgrass," claims Bill Keane, the Phoenix philosopher. A cabdriver lamented to one of our readers that he was disappointed in "On the Beach" due to the title he had gone expecting a sexy picture.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Billy Rose's El Morocco date, actress Elaine Stritch. There may be real drama backstage at a B-way musical; the star's wife warned him to quit dating a chorus girl. — Chicago actress Bridget Bazile, 16, never heard of Salome till she got the important role in "King of Kings"; then she looked it up in an encyclopedia.

Vaughn Monroe'll visit 28 cities in 18 days for an RCA promotion stunt. — Burt Lancaster calls his "Elmer Gantry" movie — about an itinerant preacher — "hokey, bawdy, biblical." — Ethel Merman recalled that when she first read the book "Gypsy," she told actress Gypsy Rose Lee: "I love it. I want to do it. I'm going to do it. I'll shoot anyone else who gets the role."

EARL'S PEARLS: What most women would like to do with last year's bathing suits is be able to get into 'em.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: There's a swimming pool, patronized by beatniks, that has no lifeguard. Has no water in it, either.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It wasn't so long ago that clergymen were the only specialists on preparing for outer space travel.

Come Don Adams claims he's still suffering from shock from the Second World War: "I was almost drafted, you know." That's-eard, brother.

Ask Andy

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 26-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 26-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Ricky Young, age 12, of Gary, Ind., for his question:

What Is a Lac Insect?

This little fella is a scale insect, a relative of the mealy bugs, the aphids and so-called ant cows. Scale insects are small creatures with long, strong sucking tubes which they use to feed upon plant juices. The males are winged and live only a short time. Most of the females are wingless and some of them live for many years.

The ant cow aphids sweat a sweet honeydew which the ants love to eat. Other scale insects secrete a covering to protect themselves from their enemies. The lac do even better. They cover themselves with a thick coating of resin which protects them not only from their enemies, but also from long periods of dry weather. Since these little ladies like to live together in colonies, their resin secretions often run together to form a large lump, sealing them safely to a twig. Sometimes a whole twig is covered with lac resin half an inch thick.

The most famous lac insects live in India, Ceylon, Burma and the East Indies. There they feed happily on juices from the fig trees, soapberries and acacias. Each pierces the bark with her long sucking tube and draws up the sap. The whole colony is safe and cosy under its glassy dome of resin — until harvest time comes around.

There are several lac insects native to the western desert regions of the New World. One variety sets up house-keeping on the twigs of the hardy creosote bush and in times past the Indians would seek them out. They would prepare the reddish colored resin and use it to waterproof their baskets and clothing. Another variety enjoys life on desert scrub oaks. The Indians used his waxy resin as a sort of chewing gum. This is not surprising when you remember that the manna of the old Bible story was produced by a certain desert scale insect.

The most valuable lac insect of modern times, however, is the one who lives in semi-tropical regions of the Old World. A colony of these little ladies produces a resin valuable enough to be harvested on a large scale. These insects are not domesticated, but the natives find out where they thrive and wait for the proper time. This occurs when the little ladies have laid their eggs for next season, all safe and sound under the hard resin dome.

Harvest begins with the pruning shears. Twigs heavy with resin are cut off and carried away. Sometimes the whole mass is put into boiling water. The resin separates and floats to the top. When dried and prepared for market it is in the form of flakes or shells. It is, of course, shellac.

Hockey World Pays Tribute to Lester

Hockey men across North America, saddened Wednesday by the news of the death of Lester Patrick at Royal Jubilee Hospital, today were paying glowing tributes to the memory of one of the game's greatest figures.

Tributes to the 76-year-old and bitter rivals, but always "Silver Fox" which started great friends," he said. Patrick, a streamer across telephone lines, he said, was "always a and telegraph wires soon after great opponent, a grand per- his death was announced, com- son in every way."

Cy Denneny:
OTTAWA (CP)—Cy Den- neny, a member of hockey's hall of fame and veteran of 12 years in the National Hockey League in the 1920s and early 1930s, said Wednes- day night Lester Patrick was "a man I always looked up to."

Newsy Lalonde:
MONTREAL (CP)—Old- time hockey great Newsy Lalonde, a member of the game's Hall of Fame, Wed- nesday night paid high tribute to Lester Patrick and recalled moments in their illustrious careers when their paths crossed.

"I am quite saddened by the news," he said. "I have lost a good friend and we all know what wonderful things he has done for hockey."

If Patrick had not been around on one particular spring night in Victoria in 1924 or 1925, my coaching career might have reached a more glorious height than was, alas, the case," Newsy recalled.

Saskatoon Shocks, under playing coach Lalonde, and Victoria, with Patrick in the lineup, were meeting in the decisive game for the Western League title.

"Lester appeared out of nowhere with the puck, took down right wing, got through three or four of our players and rifled a long shot past (George) Hainsworth. That was that. It was near the end of the third period and Victoria won the game 1-0."

"Whenever I look back on my career I always think of Lester, because he represented to me all the finest things about the game."

Cyclone Taylor:
VANCOUVER (CP)—Old- time hockey great Fred (Cy- clone) Taylor said Wednesday he, "along with the rest of Canada's athletic world," is paying tribute to Lester Patrick.

"I have known Lester intimately since 1903 when he was with Brandon and I played for Portage La Prairie in the Manitoba Senior Amateur League," said Taylor, "and we were once together on the same team—the old Renfrew Brigadiers."

"Since then Lester has gone to the top in every phase of the game, and I am deeply sorry to hear of his death. I am quite sure we will never really see his like again," Taylor said from his Vancouver home.

Red Dutton:
CALGARY (CP)—Red Dut- ton, ex-president of the National Hockey League and longtime associate of the late Lester Patrick, said Wednes- day Patrick was a "maker of men."

Dutton said the Silver Fox of hockey "did more for young men than most men do."

"He was a great man, a great competitor, and a great gentle- man."

Billy Hewitt:
TORONTO (CP)—W. A. (Billy) Hewitt, registrar of the Canadian Amateur Hockey As- sociation for more than 50 years, Wednesday night said Lester Patrick did more for hockey than any other individ- ual.

"He was the greatest man in hockey," said Hewitt, "the dean of them all."

Tommy Gorman:
OTTAWA (CP)—T. P. (Tommy) Gorman, harness racing promoter and former hockey manager, paid tribute to Lester Patrick Wednesday night as "always a wonderful man in every respect."

Gorman managed the old New York Americans while Lester was managing the New York Rangers.

"We were keen opponents

MOST FAMOUS GAME

Most famous game of Lester Patrick came when hockey's "Silver Fox" was 44 and managing New York Rangers. When goalie Lorne Chabot was injured in a Stanley Cup game, Patrick dressed and stepped into the nets early in second period. He allowed only one goal and Rangers won the game in overtime. It was at Montreal in 1925.

CAMPBELL SAYS:

One of Game's Real Immortals

MONTREAL (CP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Wednesday night the death of Lester Patrick "removes one of the few remaining links with the early days of the game."

He expressed regret that, because of the imminence of the annual NHL convention, he will be unable to attend the funeral of the legendary Silver Fox. The convention opens here Monday.

The NHL will be officially represented at the funeral by Walter Brown, president of the Boston Bruins and chairman of the league's board of governors.

In a statement Wednesday night, Mr. Campbell said: "I don't think it is possible to describe fully the many contributions which he made to the game throughout his lifetime as player, coach, manager, team-owner, league governor and, more recently, chairman of the selection committee of the Hockey Hall of Fame."

"He was identified with most of the major develop- ments in the style of play, the organization and expansion of the game down to the time of his retirement a few years ago."

"One of hockey's real im- mortals is gone and I know that I have lost a very good personal friend."

Norm's Ready to Growl When They Pick on Vics

Victoria Makes Hustle Pay Off for 11-6 Victory

Vancouver 6, Victoria 11
By ERNIE FEDORUK

Norm Baker isn't the snarling type. That, he feels, is for Clyde Beatty and his caged lions.

The Victoria lacrosse coach, however, quickly steps out of the character when derogatory re- marks are directed at his In- ter-City League charges.

Baker snarls best at those who have already "consigned the Vics to last place in the gutted-stick circuit. That is what was suggested elsewhere after Baker's boys lost their fourth straight game, 12-6, to Vancouver Tuesday night.

"How in heck can they put us out of the playoffs when we still have two-thirds of a schedule to play?" he growled poetically.

Then the boys won Wednes- day night.

"Now does that look like a team that has no hope of mak- ing the playoffs?" he growled not so poetically.

You can disagree with the 230-pound coach for sheer spite. But for the truth, you would have to agree: Yes, Mr. Baker, it certainly did not look like a team without hope of reaching the playoffs.

Best Defensive Display of Season

Fittingly enough, goalie Fred Wooster had a hand in sending Victoria ahead. The rookie netminder, a solid performer all night, made one of his many fine saves and then passed to McKee far down the floor.

Wooster made 30 saves com- pared to the 21 stopped by the combined efforts of Vancou- ver's Stan Joseph and Don Hamilton.

And as good as he was, burly Fred had to share individual brilliance with most of his mates—Stew Smith and McNeill, each of whom scored three times, and set up a fourth; Al Gill and Whitey Severson, the penalty killers, who came up with fine ragging performances, and Tom Eng- lish, who failed to get on the scoreboard but was outstand- ing defensively.

There was no doubt in Baker's mind that Wednesday's was Victoria's best defensive display of the year.

The defensive highlights, of course, were the 10 minutes late in the first and early in the second periods. That was the stretch which found Vics short-handed most of the time.

The penalty count—eight for Victoria and four for Vancouver—is added testimony. The visitors never managed a goal while throwing out their power play.

Now the Vics look forward to their three meetings with New Westminster, including two in Memorial Arena next week.

Baker said both Tommy Druce and rugged Ross Ros- kamp will be available for the next games. Both were due to play Wednesday.

The veteran Druce came down with a touch of the flu at the last minute, while Ros- kamp, who started out the season with Nanaimo, was sidelined because of a technical- ity in regulations. Players released by one club must wait seven days before they are allowed to play with another team.

U.S. Champ Takes British Tee Crown

BARLECH, Wales (CP)—United States women's amateur golf champion, today won the British title with a 3 and 2 victory over Philomena Garvey of Ireland.

Miss McIntire held a com- manding six-hole lead over Miss Garvey after the morning round of the 36-hole final.

The American champion, seeking a little "slam in" wo- men's golf, won the first hole with a birdie and moved steadily ahead.

Young Hearts Goalie Played With England

Gordon Marshall is as Scot- tish as the heather.

There is, however, a slight slur in the burr and, as a result, Anglo-Scottish relations took an unprecedented twist during the past football season.

That came from Marshall's selection to tend goal for Eng- land's Under-23 international team.

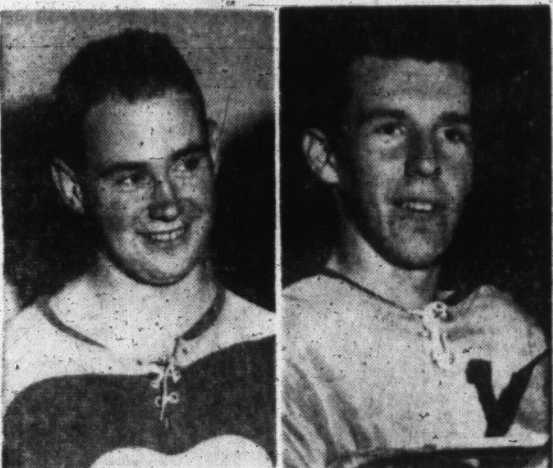

It is not unusual for a native Scotsman to play pro soccer in England, but it is a different matter when the boot fits the other foot. And Marshall, a genial, 22-year-old, happens to be a rarity.

For here is a native English- man playing in the Scottish League. The surprise, there- fore, was quite understandable when English selectors reached into Scottish territory to choose a goalkeeper for their under-23 international side.

Marshall, the young ace of Scottish champions Heart of Midlothian, was born in Eng- land just before his parents de- cided to move back to Scotland.

Marshall, one of the nine members of the Hearts who de- lighted Vancouver fans in 1958 with a 5-2 win over Manchester City, visits Victoria next Mon- day when the Scottish champs play Victoria All-Stars at Royal Athletic Park.

For Vancouver Island fans, it's a chance to have a first- hand look at the lad who ap- pears destined to inherit the goalkeeping job for England's full international team.

SCORING STARS for Victoria in Wednesday night's Inter-City Lacrosse League game were Stew Smith (left) and Jim McNeill. Each fired three goals as Vics trimmed Vancouver 11-6.

Skinny Catches Pennant Fever

By United Press International

A pitcher Paul Richards once scorned as "Line Drive Brown" is making the Baltimore Orioles' leader look like the manager of the year.

His full name is Hector Har- old "Skinny" Brown and he's traveled the Hamburger cir- cuit for much of his 15-year career. But along with the rest of Richards' kids and castoffs, he's caught a severe case of early-season pennant fever and Wednesday night he came within one pitch of no-hit fame.

The 35-year-old Brown yielded a first-inning homer to Mickey Mantle and then went on to beat the New York Yan- kees, 4-1, without allowing an- other hit. The victory boosted the Orioles' American League lead over the rain-out Cleve- land Indians to 2½ games and was their sixth triumph in seven games and their 10th in 12.

WHITE SOX WIN

Brown, tagged "Line Drive" when Richards okayed his trade by Chicago to Boston in 1952, has compiled a 4-1 record and permitted just eight walks in 46 innings. He's beaten the Yankees twice and the Indians and Red Sox once each while suffering only a 2-0 loss to New York.

Frank Baumann, who has scored six of his 15 big league victories against Detroit, pitched the White Sox to a 6-0 win that handed the Tigers their fifth straight loss in the only other American League game. Washington's two-night- er at Boston was rained out.

RETAIN LEAD

The Pittsburgh Pirates re- tained their game-and-a-half grip on first place when Bob Friend shut out the Cincin- nati Reds, 5-0, the San Fran- cisco Giants shaded the Chi- cago Cubs, 2-1, the Milwaukee Braves beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-3, and the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 5-2 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League.

Friend pitched a three-hitter for his third shutout and sixth win of the season as the Pi- rates ran their winning streak to five games and their season record at home to 18-6.

ENTRY LIST TOO LONG FOR CITY TEE TOURNEY

A total of 45 golfers who have signified their in- tention of playing will not be able to compete in the city amateur championship.

There were 144 entries for the championship, which opens Sunday at Uplands, and only 99 berths in the draw. Members of the Victoria and District Golf Association decided to reduce the field by trimming out high handicap players.

Players accepted for the field were those with handi- caps of 10 and under. In addition, four players of 11 handi- cap were also accepted.

The draw will be released later this week.

Lansdowne Earns Title On Strength in Relays

By JIMMY DEMARET

A good basis for describing the requirements of the forward press is: Use all the parts of the body which will play a distinct and continuing part throughout the swing.

Then, as one, move them toward the hole only enough to get them moving in balance, ready for the beginning of the backswing.

The swing is going to involve the knees, hips, shoulders, arms and hands, so each is set in forward motion enough for the player to feel the movement.

Study the starts of your friends' swings. Invariably, the stiff, tense starts will be from a motionless position. Swings which seem to be flowing from the instant the club-head leaves the ball will be graceful products of a swing which "got the downbeat" from the forward press.

Forward press for short iron.

Practice the forward press. As long as the forward press sets you in motion in good balance, you will know that it is going to improve your swing.

NEXT: Relax.

FRASER SCORES ANOTHER UPSET

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Fraser of Victoria scored another upset here Wednesday night when he eliminated eighth-seeded George Morphitt of Vancouver 7-5, 6-0 and advanced to the men's quarter-finals of the B.C. Public Parks tennis championship.

Fraser, B.C.'s top-ranked junior, was down 5-2 in the first set but rallied to score his victory.

Tars Try Out Cricket Legs

For the first time in many years, the Pacific Command of the RCN now has a permanent cricket team.

It will see its first major action of the season tonight against the Five C's, at Beacon Hill Park, starting at 6 o'clock. The game will be limited to 20 overs for each team and promises to present lively action. Among the Navy's team are several batsmen who have played with major cricket clubs in England.

Barry Can Laugh Despite 19 Hits

Wakeman-Trimble players got the most hits, but Barry Menzies got the last laugh.

Menzies, pitching for Eagles in a Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League game at Royal Athletic Park Wednesday, at no time could claim mastery over the Contractor batters.

In an eight-inning game he yielded 19 hits—at least one every inning—but still managed to laugh last when his team grabbed a wild 11-10 decision over the W.T's.

He got the win because Eagles also had their batting boots on, collecting 16 hits off three Wakeman-Trimble pitchers.

Victory came on a bottom-of-the-eighth run by Steve Bishop, who came home on an infield out.

Menzies had survived a hectic top of the eighth, in which the Contractors had bombed him with six hits and his teammates had committed two errors for a total of five runs, tying the game at 10-10.

"MOST LIKELY TO SUCCEED..."

Meet Joan Wilson. Voted the girl most likely to succeed in her class—that's what it says in the school annual. Judging by what she's doing here, her classmates have made a good choice.

You see, the year she started school she also started a savings account at the special school wicket at the B of M. Joan has graduated from the school wicket, but almost every Friday afternoon you'll find her here doing her weekly banking.

With a sense of thrift and responsibility learned at "My Bank's" school wicket, Joan was off to a good start as the girl most likely to succeed.

Why not start your children off on the road to success by opening an account for them at the B of M this Friday?

Open Season On Canadiens

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League opens its three-day annual meeting next Monday with indications there will be a flurry of trades and a real grabfest in the draft.

Montreal Canadiens 'appear to be fair game on both counts. The NHL and Stanley Cup champions, rich in roster talent and farm-club prospects, are virtually certain to be shorn of a few lesser-light regulars and several up-and-coming youngsters.

The guessing has it that Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers may figure with Canadiens in pre-draft deals—possibly already quietly arranged—and in the draft itself.

Canadiens are in the happy-or unhappy—position of having more players they would like to protect from the draft than the league allows. They'll have to whittle the list to 18, plus two goalies.

Canadiens' plans in this respect weren't helped Wednesday when Maurice (Rocket) Richard deferred any decision on his possible retirement until next September.

Selke said New York Rangers have made a written offer to shell out $100,000 in a package deal for Ab McDonald, Bob Turner and Don Marshall; Selke declined to comment on the offer.

BRUINS WANT WORSLEY
Rumors of all sorts of deals and draft grabs have been rife. New York Rangers have reported trying to work a deal that would send Eddie Shack to Montreal.

Dick Duff of Toronto Maple Leafs has been reported trading material, if the club can get a good enough deal.

Boston Bruins, who have had indifferent success in goal with Don Simmons and veteran Harry Lumley, are said to be after Lorne (Gump) Worsley, the little netminder of New York Rangers, who has been regularly demoted and promoted.

Billy McNeill, who refused to move from Detroit to New York in a deal last season, is reported ready to leave the retired list and join the Rangers.

PATRICK'S DEATH LOSS TO HOCKEY

12 Victoria Daily Times THURS. JUNE 2, 1960

Island News Briefs

He controlled the puck through most of the remaining time, scored two goals and made passes for two more to lead Nelson to a 4-2 victory.

It was wonderful, Lester said. "I think it was my greatest game."

More than the sports realm has been saddened by the news of Patrick's death. All Canada mourns the passing of the 76-year-old Silver Fox, the man who brought a new brilliance to the brawling sport of ice hockey and became one of the most famous Canadians of his time.

Some men seem destined for greatness. And thus it was with Lester Patrick.

Endowed with strength, vision, a sense of humor, an analytical mind, a flair for showmanship and unquestioned integrity, he could probably have acquired fame in other fields, perhaps as a criminal lawyer, which was one of his early ambitions; a surgeon, politician, businessman or scientist.

Great Decision

But from the time he got his first taste of ice spray, Lester was attracted to hockey. And when, a few years later, he decided to adopt it as a profession, it was a momentous decision for the game.

Before he ended a career that spanned 36 years as a player and official, he had introduced, or helped introduce, many innovations that revolutionized the game and developed it into a greater spectator sport.

One of hockey's most talented and durable players, Lester played for 15 years in the National Hockey League.

He was selected as the first NHL all-star coach the first six times that the all-star teams were named and later was picked as the all-star coach for a seventh time.

Added to that record Patrick's accomplishments as an executive and his many contributions to rules and tactics and it can be seen how important his role was in the progress of hockey.

A man of outstanding moral courage, Lester Patrick lived by his creed of clean play and clean living. He never deliberately chopped down an opponent or resorted to unfair tactics. He detested profanity, but never chastised others for its use.

Lester wasn't perfect and never pretended to be. He could be temperamental and on occasion erupted like a prima donna, especially when defending the sport he loved. Records of hockey meetings show that he knew how to fight for things he believed right, but when under great pressure he would sometimes give way to a few of the harsh words he hated.

There were times, too, when he was hurt and irritated by criticism of teams he owned.

Patrick was also acknowledged as the greatest tactician and long before he retired in September, 1955, at the age of 76, he had become a living legend and a member of the Hockey Hall of Fame.

His career, as player, coach, manager, promoter and club owner was indeed a fabulous one and his personal achievements are synonymous with the progress of hockey. If any man can be singled out as the one who did the most to elevate the sport to its present popularity, it has to be the Silver Fox.

Because he played his last game more than 30 years ago and many of his feats are dimmed by time or unknown to younger Canadians, it might be mentioned briefly that:

Lester played his first Stanley Cup game for Brandon in 1904, and played in his last cup classic 24 years later, with the New York Rangers in 1928, in what was his last and most famous game.

He participated in 15 Stanley Cup playoffs as player and manager and had a part in winning the trophy eight times.

He started the hockey world and changed the playing approach to the game while with Brandon when he became the first defenceman on record to carry the puck the length of the ice and score.

He staged the first professional game played on artificial ice and helped pioneer professional hockey on the Pacific Coast.

He directed major league teams for 33 years at Victoria, Spokane, Seattle and New York.

All-Star Coach

Lester was selected as the NHL all-star coach the first six times that the all-star teams were named and later was picked as the all-star coach for a seventh time.

Added to that record Patrick's accomplishments as an executive and his many contributions to rules and tactics and it can be seen how important his role was in the progress of hockey.

He believed he was doing his best to assemble good teams and thought fans should understand his side of the situation.

He had his faults, but they were only a minor part of the structure of a man who made old-fashioned ideals work in the hustle, bustle and pressure of modern life.

Lester and his wife, Grace, the Nanaimo girl he married in Victoria in 1911, never wanted to be a permanent part of big-city life. They preferred the Linden Avenue home they first occupied 40 years ago. They didn't want to live in New York, or even the newer, more-fashionable Victoria subdivisions. They just wanted to be the Patricks of Fairfield.

Mrs. Patrick was near Lester until his death, as were Lynn and Murray, who came to Victoria to be with their father when it appeared that he wouldn't recover from the illness that forced him into hospital for the last time two weeks ago.

Family of Nine

Born in Drummondville, Que., on Dec. 31, 1883, Lester was one of a family of nine—five boys and four girls. He acquired his first pair of skates when he was 10 and received his first hockey stick on his 12th birthday.

He started playing regularly when he was 15 and got his first taste of real competition at 18, when he helped Montreal Juniors to the national title.

He broke into major hockey with Brandon and at 21 was captain of Montreal Wanderers. He was acknowledged as Canada's greatest player the following year, when he led the Wanderers to a Stanley Cup victory.

In 1907, his father, Joseph Patrick, sold his Quebec business interests and the family moved to Nelson. Lester played a season at Nelson and competed in two more cup finals with Edmonton and the famed Renfrew Millionaires, who paid him the then fabulous salary of $3,000, before his father sold his lumber business.

That transaction in 1911 fostered organized hockey on the Pacific Coast. With Joseph and sons Lester and Frank sharing equally, the Patricks decided to gamble on the construction of artificial ice arenas. Frank took over at Vancouver and Lester purchased a plot of land opposite the site of the Oak Bay Junior High School on Cadboro Bay Road for his rink.

Goalie at 44

Finally it was Lester, who had never played goal before and was now in his 44th year, who waddled out on the ice in the big pads.

The Silver Fox astounded players and fans alike as he stopped 15 shots regarded as "dangerous," held off the Maroons three times while Rangers were a man short and allowed only one goal.

That goal was by "Old Poison" Neil Stewart and it tied the game at 1-1 to force overtime. Lester was unbeatable the rest of the way until Frank Boucher scored New York's winning goal.

Lester used to laugh about that game.

As A Goalkeeper
"Speaking as a goalkeeper," he would say, "I should have stopped that shot, but they sure made me a hero and they still talk about the old man who stopped the Maroons."

Mr. Hockey remained at New York to establish the first "farm system" and become vice-president of the Gardens. He was elected to the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1947 and finally came home to Victoria to revive the Cougars when Memorial Arena was completed in 1949.

He stepped out of hockey for good in 1953 when he relinquished his interests in the club to Lynn and Murray and a group of Victoria businessmen.

Now Lester is gone and although the Patrick name remains in hockey through his sons there will never be another Silver Fox.

Despite his great hockey record, I remember Lester best as the man who could talk on equal terms with the kids on the corner, rowdy hockey players or the sharpest executives in his profession.

I'll always retain a memory of Lester Patrick reciting "Little Bateese."

Changing forward lines was another Patrick innovation that was quickly adopted by all clubs.

Made Comeback

Then 42, Lester made a comeback the following year, helping the Cougars to the Stanley Cup final against the Maroons at Montreal. A broken thumb denied Lester the right to compete in that playoff and the final games of the original Cougars.

Before the 1926-27 season got under way, all the Western Hockey League clubs had been sold for $300,000 to cities which had obtained National Hockey League franchises. The Cougars went to Detroit and Lester accepted an offer of $10,000 a year to manage New York Rangers.

His last and certainly most dramatic appearance as a player came in the Stanley Cup playoffs of 1928.

Playing against the Maroons, Rangers' goaltender Lorne Chabot suffered a severe eye injury early in the second period of one game. Patrick was denied the right to use a substitute goalie not a member of the team.

LOMBARDO'S JET BOAT BLOWS UP ON TEST RUN

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP)—The Tempo Alcoa, a jet-powered $300,000 aluminum boat owned by band leader Guy Lombardo, exploded and sank in Saginaw Bay on a test run Wednesday. No one was in the boat when it blew up—it was being operated by remote control from shore by its builder, Les Staudacher. The craft, estimated to have cost $300,000, was badly damaged by the blast and sank in 12 feet of water.

PROTEST AGAINST HUTTERITIES

'We'll Break the Law To Keep Them Out'

WARNER, Alta. (CP)—The Warner local of the Farmers' Union of Alberta Wednesday warned it is prepared "to break civil laws in Canada if necessary" if an application by a Hutterite colony to purchase a ranch in this area is granted.

In a brief presented to a tempestuous hearing of the communal properties board, the local warned the Alberta government and the Hutterite colony to be prepared "to accept grave consequences" if a bid by the Hutterite colony to buy the J. T. Henninger ranch in this district is approved. Warner is about 40 miles southeast of Lethbridge.

"We are prepared to break civil laws in Canada if necessary," said Warner spokesman J. M. Graham.

"We have reached the end of our patience," he said. "There is seething resentment which can erupt at any time."

Some 300 farmers from the Warner, Milk River, Stirling and Raymond districts attended the hearing, which threatened at times to go out of control as outbursts by the farmers drowned out the hearing.

G. Davies of Clyde, Alta., representing the Hutterian Brethren, said the hearing reminded him of a "kangaroo court in an uncivilized country."

CS Strike Called

PARIS (Reuters)—The four main French trade union federations—Communist-led, independent, Socialist and Catholic—Wednesday ordered a nationwide strike of civil servants and public service workers for June 10 to press wage demands. About 1,300,000 workers are affected by the strike call.

Britons See Chance For Money, Markets

BRITISH CARS GAINING HERE

British-made cars are holding their own against the new "compacts" from the big U.S. manufacturers, according to the chief spokesman for the U.K. industry.

Lord Rootes said here Wednesday:

"We are still holding a lead and going ahead a bit."

He said sales in B.C. were up 4 per cent while "compact" sales were 1 per cent ahead.

Although there wasn't that increase everywhere, that trend was reflected across the rest of Canada.

SUNNY HAVEN

Big Boost For Island

Vancouver Island can expect a new migration of Britons on the recommendation of a peer and a cabinet minister who found a sunny haven here.

This retiring isle has a reputation, apparently—among returning Britons.

Lord Rootes of Ramsbury, president of Britain's Dollar Export Council, is a one-man fan club after 12 visits.

Wednesday he enlisted the support of Reginald Maudling, president of the Board of Trade.

The island was regarded in Britain as "a very secure place," said Lord Rootes.

"Our people, when they want to retire, want to come over here."

This didn't mean, however, we were stagnant.

"You are moving all the time. We must keep pace with you," said Lord Rootes.

Mr. Maudling found the island "like home."

"It's a delightful place," he said.

Mr. Maudling and his wife, Lord Rootes, and two secretaries stayed overnight at Government House, and were to leave today for Vancouver and a number of engagements there.

They will leave on the weekend for visits to Calgary and Ottawa, then go on to New York.

In Vancouver other members of the Dollar Export Council will join the party.

Mr. Maudling will hold talks in Ottawa, and then he and Lord Rootes will go to the British Exhibition in New York.

Sunspot Trouble

LONDON (Reuters)—A solar flame—a series of huge eruptions on the sun—Wednesday caused a worldwide radio blackout affecting short-wave broadcast and telegraph circuits for nearly two hours.

By early afternoon, reception had returned to normal, but the disturbed conditions are likely to continue for several days and long-distance communications again may be affected.

Top British trade officials saw big opportunities for money and markets in B.C. after meeting cabinet members in Victoria Wednesday.

"We are very interested in the great development of your utilities . . . such as power," said Reginald Maudling, U.K. Board of Trade president, at a press conference in Government House Wednesday.

He was "sure" that Britons "would take advantage of some opportunities there."

Mr. Maudling pointed out that Britain had "acknowledged world experts" in electrical transmission systems.

Lord Rootes, chairman of the Dollar Export Council, who accompanied the British cabinet minister as guest of Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, added that British engineers and experts were "used to very big undertakings."

While they saw many good prospects for trade and capital, the Britons said talks with B.C. cabinet ministers including Trade Minister Robert Bonner and acting premier Eric Martin, earlier in the day had not covered any specific field.

"But we got a great impression of confidence," said Mr. Maudling.

He singled out textiles, machinery, utilities and high quality consumer goods as the best prospects for British business in B.C.

It was "a very enterprising part of Canada" which had always been looked upon with favor by the British businessmen.

"There is no doubt about growing opportunities for U.K. trade here," said Mr. Maudling.

Purpose of a tour which started in Los Angeles this week, and will take them on to Vancouver today, then Calgary, Ottawa and New York, is a combination of business, sporting and official opening of the British Exhibition in New York which will be the biggest ever staged abroad by that country.

Canada 'Always Very Welcome'

Investment amounted to $130 million a year, including profits retained in Canada. But the total depended on surpluses available from Britain, and they hadn't been very plentiful. Of the cash available for investment anywhere "a very high proportion comes to Canada."

One immediate prospect seen in B.C. by Lord Rootes was the expansion of natural gas pipelines—with several projects going ahead this year.

U.K. products were "very competitive" in this field.

Mr. Maudling didn't see many dangers for Canada in the organization of large trading "blobs" throughout the world.

As far as Britain was concerned, he said, "Canada is always very welcome."

There would be a full membership for Canada and the U.S. in the Organization of Economic Co-operation and Development, a new agency, being established in place of the Organization of European Co-operation.

The European Common Market—an alliance of six nations for trade favors—might mean a loss of agricultural markets, Mr. Maudling indicated.

However, the Outer Seven, which includes Britain, "will probably increase the total market for Canadian products."

Tribal War Kills 30

PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (Reuters)—Fierce inter-tribal warfare by 3,000 natives has taken at least 30 lives and destroyed 12 villages in Dutch New Guinea, it was reported Wednesday. The tiny "war" of almost two days and a night was apparently started by one group seeking revenge for the death of a relative.

OCEAN SEPARATES SALESMEN

A Happy Coincidence?

By FRANK BUTTER

Britain's top car salesman doesn't undecorate the powers of B.C.'s former hardware salesman and perhaps it's just as well they were 6,000 miles apart Wednesday.

As it was, Britain's Lord Rootes was sitting in Government House, B.C. and Premier W. A. C. Bennett was somewhere in London, England.

The car magnate was telling reporters that nothing had come of a Bennett plan to assemble British automobiles in B.C.

"Perhaps if I were in London—I have had occasion to know him—Premier Bennett might have persuaded me to do all sorts of things."

After a pause: "But I'm out of arm's reach now."

Lord Rootes, who is boss of the big Rootes group of auto manufacturers, said he and the premier discussed a plan to assemble U.K. cars in B.C. 18 months ago. The economics didn't look too good then.

But things rapidly change. However I haven't anything particular to say now."

Then came the aside about the premier's sales ability.

It was actually a coincidence that a British trade group including Lord Rootes was here, while a B.C. trade group headed by Mr. Bennett was in Britain.

The Rootes group is on the way to New York and a big British exhibition. The premier wrote a letter to the British party, extending a welcome on the province's behalf, and expressing regret that he couldn't be here.

NEEDS GOVERNMENT HELP

Lack of Funds Plague Mainland Symphony

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Symphony did not achieve its fund-raising objective this year, and problems lie ahead.

"It is a matter of record that support by business and industry and by some large individual donors has decreased appreciably," he said.

"We are grateful to those who gave support, but feel it is a poor showing for a community of Greater Vancouver's size."

Mr. Keay said the musicians should be employed on an annual basis to ensure them a living wage and a full-time occupation.

New society president is F. C. Sweet.

Former Girl Guide area commissioner, Mrs. A. G. Gosling, formally opened the new Guide camp recently.

The summer camp is situated on ground some 10 miles west of Sooke which was purchased and developed by the Vic. Van Isle Kinsmen Club.

Huts and other campsite equipment have already been built and work will continue during the summer to add fireplaces.

Guide officials also presented a totem pole to Aubrey Westinghouse for his services on the camp development committee.

VANANDA, B.C. (CP)—Albert Matson, 45, of this Texada Island community, died Monday when hit by a falling log. Matson was an employee of the Jones Logging Company.

D-DAY MARKED BY PARADE

Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) will commemorate the 16th anniversary of D Day Monday, June 6, by a special parade at the cenotaph.

Col. R. W. Mayhew, retired honorary colonel, will place a wreath.

This will be followed by a sunset service featuring a guard of honor under command of Sgt. Jack Leonard.

Pipes and drums of the regiment will also parade under Pipe-Major F. E. Knight.

'CCF BROUGHT EXPANSION'

SASKATOON (CP) — Saskatchewan has experienced more economic expansion in the last 10 years than it has in any 20-year period in its history, Premier T. C. Douglas said Wednesday night.

He told 1,000 persons the CCF has an "aggressive program of industrial development and expansion."

When the CCF was first elected in 1944 only 19 per cent of the province's economic wealth came from non-agricultural sources, he said. In 1960 it was about 65 per cent.

AL WILSON
... beats Charman

OLD-STYLE HUSTINGS

Jaycee Chief Named After Hot Campaign

In an old-style razzle-dazzle election contest, 36-year-old Alan Wilson defeated Eric Charman, 28, for the presidency of Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night.

Born in Victoria, Mr. Wilson is a sales supervisor employed by Trans-Canada Air Lines and lives with his wife, Georgina, and two sons at 2221 Kinross Avenue.

The number of votes cast was not disclosed and the ballots were destroyed immediately after Mr. Wilson's victory. Both candidates went all out to win votes at a lively dinner meeting held in the Net Loft restaurant.

The walls were plastered with "Vote for Me" slogans. Pretty girls distributed campaign ribbons and portraits of the two candidates hung over the head table.

PIPED IN

At the entrance to the restaurant was a large red-lettered sign "Don't Be Misled, Vote for Eric the Red." Valerie Parkin, attractive TCA stewardess, campaigned for Alan Wilson. Eric Charman was carried into the room on the shoulders of his supporters, led by a small pipe band.

Retiring president Peter Forward kept a firm hand on the high-spirited gathering and insisted the election be conducted on strictly traditional lines.

Don Anderson, speaking in support of Eric Charman, said "he has grown in maturity and stature, and will bring dignity to our organization."

Ray Rawnsley for Alan Wilson said: "He has trained himself for the presidency and has helped hundreds of Jaycees to earn effective public speaking."

After his election, Mr. Wilson pledged "wholehearted devotion" to Jaycee activities and was warmly congratulated by Mr. Charman.

PRIZES AWARDED

Mr. Charman, Al Buchan and Brian Small were elected vice-presidents after five Jaycees had been nominated.

Trevor Barlow was elected secretary and Cameron Jamieson, treasurer. Nine new directors, elected from 15 nominees, were: Ted Bird, Pat Blewett, Ray Farmer, Brian Holliday, Robert Montgomery, William Wilson, Matt Yole, Joe Kampman and John McLeod.

Four members of Port Angeles Chamber of Commerce—Dale Dow, Dwight Hawkes, Jim Craig and Bruce Balcolm—were guests at the meeting. Mrs. W. Robertson, 1057 Redfern, was announced as winner of the top prize of $100 in the Jaycee Paint-Up, Clean-Up contest.

Second prize of $50 went to W. F. Sewell, 748 Mann, and third prize of $25 to Herbert Maxwell, 230 Beechwood.

Mainland Man Jailed On Forgery Charges

(Compiled from CP)

CALGARY—Gerald S. Beckett of Vancouver Wednesday was sentenced to three years in penitentiary on multiple charges of uttering forged, false pretences and attempted fraud.

Beckett, 30, who had pleaded guilty to the charges Tuesday, was sentenced by Magistrate R. V. Read to three years on 17 counts, and two years on six others, all to run concurrently. One charge was withdrawn.

The court was told that Beckett may be a member of a new fraternity of crooks who make their headquarters in Vancouver and conduct sudden raids to Prairie cities to cash false cheques, then fly back to the coast.

CHAN BID QUASHED

VANCOUVER—The British Columbia Court of Appeal has turned down a bid by Weldon Chan to have a deportation order against him quashed.

Three justices Wednesday refused the request of Chan's counsel for an extension of time to get his appeal before the court. Chan is still in hiding.

DEATH PROVED

GRAND FORKS—The Soviet government has sent Canadian Doukhobors a death certificate for Peter Verigin III, the sect's long lost leader.

The certificate, which shows Verigin died in Russia in 1942, had been accepted by Canadian Doukhobors as final proof of death. It was produced at a meeting here of 2,000 Doukhobors.

John J. Verigin of Grand Forks, a nephew of the missing Peter, read the certificate to the meeting.

The Doukhobors will select a new spiritual leader, but no action is expected for several weeks.

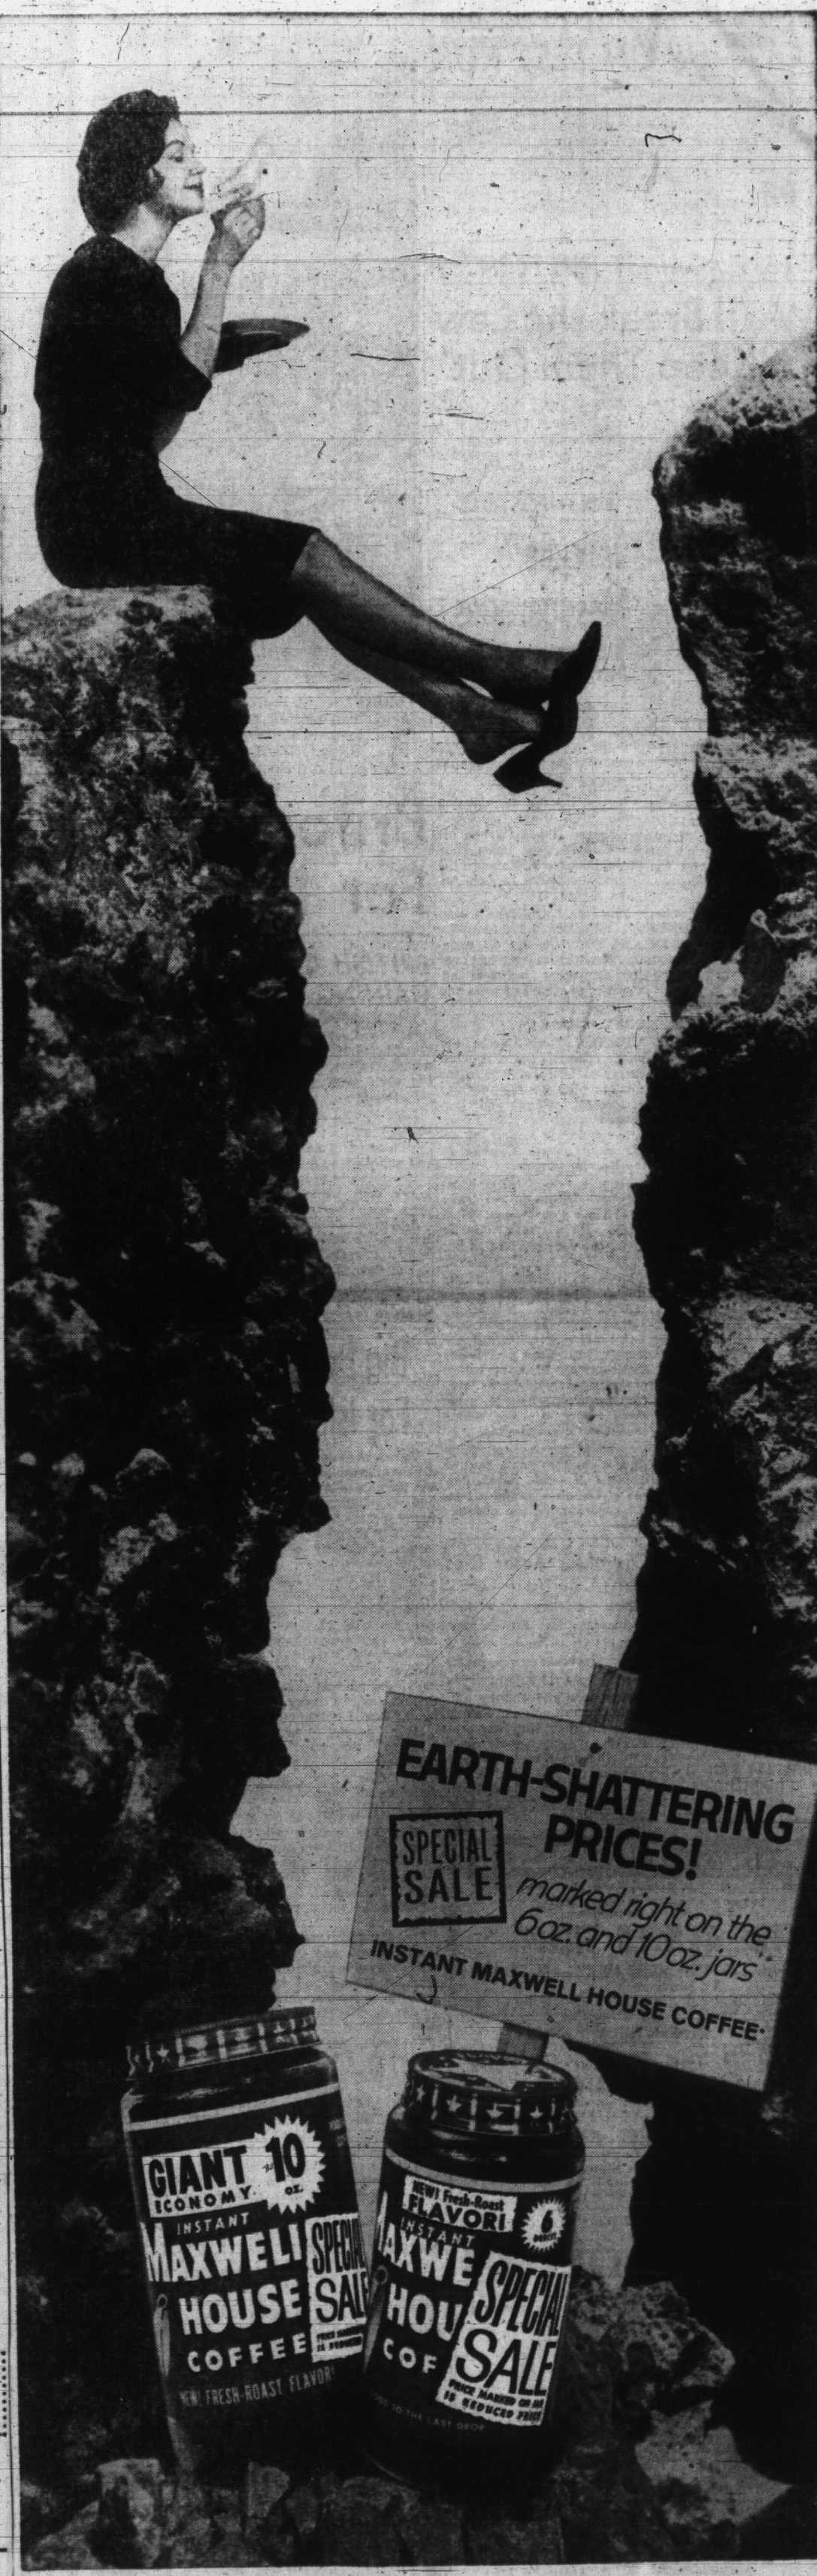

DIES AT WHEEL

NELSON—James A. Wilson of Nelson, civil defence co-ordinator for West Kootenay, died Wednesday when his car plunged into Slocan Lake near Slocan City.

Police said it appeared Mr. Wilson suffered a heart attack. A motorist following the car said it appeared to go out of control for about 150 feet before dropping into 75 feet of water.

The body was recovered by a diver several hours later. Wilson had been treated for a heart attack last fall.

A resident of Nelson since 1932, he was the first president of the Social Credit Party in this district.

3 great Gerber Breakfasts

FOR YOUR BABY'S SAKE

There's a heap of happy eating in these new Gerber Breakfasts: Strained and Junior Ham Omelette, Bacon Omelette and Cereal, Egg Yolks and Bacon. So good they'll make your tyke like to eat the hearty breakfast he needs. Super for supper too!

Gerber Breakfasts are ever so nutritious because they combine 3 important food groups to give your baby these benefits: calories for energy; protein for growth; minerals for strength. Wonderfully textured, too. Smoothly pureed for small ones... minced for tots with teeth.

Developed by specialists devoted exclusively to the preparation of quality baby foods.

HERTER WARNS OF TROUBLE

'Outlaw Regime'
By Red Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States Secretary Christian A. Herter said Wednesday the Communist bloc likely will launch new "probing" action, especially in the Far East.

ODD OBJECT
VAPOR TRAIL IN SUN?

A vapor trail caught by the setting sun.

That seems to be the accepted explanation for a cigar-shaped glowing object seen in the northwest sky Wednesday about 9 p.m.

This theory was advanced by a spokesman for the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory who said the phenomena had been observed before and identified as a vapor trail from a high-flying jet.

It was visible for nearly four minutes before being obscured by clouds which reached to the horizon.

Tenders Invited
On Boulevards

Tenders for cutting and watering boulevards will be called by city parks committee.

The decision was taken Wednesday in a bid to find out if the work could be done more cheaply by contract than by city crews.

It follows a decision by city public works committee to call for tenders for maintenance and operation of street lights for a similar reason.

Longer Island Stay

ANTIGUA, West Indies (Reuters)—Princess Margaret and her husband, Antony Armstrong-Jones, have extended their stay in this Caribbean island, it was learned Wednesday.

LOSS FELT DEEPLY

Bennett Championed
B.C. Employee Cause

A. C. Bennett, who died in Vancouver Tuesday, was one of the founders of the B.C. Government Employees Association.

Mr. Bennett, who was 58, started his government service career as a psychiatric nurse at Essondale provincial mental hospital.

He and general secretary E. P. O'Connor were the prime founders of the BCGEA. They took leave of absence from their jobs in 1942 to get the movement organized.

They later became full-time association employees.

Mr. Bennett was one of the originators of the medical plan before the government took it over. He then became assistant general secretary of the BCGEA, a position he held until his death of a heart attack Tuesday.

DEEPLY REGRETTED

It was "quite a shock," said Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

"Many in the government had come to know him well over the years and his passing will be deeply regretted."

Gordon Moore, former BCGEA president and close associate of Mr. Bennett's in the past, said "He will be missed."

"He was very well liked by everyone."

Equally at home with high government officials and outside members of the association, "Al" Bennett commanded great respect," said Mr. Moore.

David Huggins, president of the Victoria local at the time of the near-strike in 1957, said Mr. Bennett had borne a great load at that time when Mr. O'Connor was away.

He became principal organizer and spokesman, and the strike was finally averted. But he suffered a heart attack at about that time.

Mr. Bennett also played an important part in the 1959 strike of civil servants. Although he lived in Vancouver with his family, Mr. Bennett was understood to be considering moving to Victoria shortly.

BOY, BATHROOM, LOCK, FIREMAN

Whoever invented bathroom door locks forgot to allow for little boys.

One of the oldest "emergencies" requiring firemen was repeated here today with a 2½-year-old the object of rescue by a Victoria fireman who clambered up to a second-storey window.

Michael Page was visiting with his mother at the home of Mrs. J. Harker, 2201 Vancouver, when he slipped into the bathroom, clicked the lock and lost the combination for getting out.

Panic set in, as usual, and when keys could not be located, it was fireman Alan Duval to the rescue.

The sequence, to its tear-stained sequel and reunion with mother is depicted at right and top, where fireman Duval smiles, "Shucks, it was nothing."

CITY'S SUN 'JUST LUCKY' -TO CONTINUE

Victoria today basked in sunshine for the second consecutive day, although there is cloud and rain farther up Island.

"We're just lucky, but we're not complaining," said weatherman William Mackie when he predicted mainly clear skies for tonight and Friday. "We are just on the southern fringe of the weather."

Winds will be westerly at up to 15 miles per hour, and temperatures will be in the comparatively balmy range of from 50 degrees tonight to a possible 70 degrees Friday.

Searchers on Foot Seeking Lost Fliers

Weather Hampers Planes

Bad weather continued to dog the air search today over mid-Vancouver Island for the two missing Victorians.

No sign of C & C Transportation Ltd. co-owners Cecil Rawlings, 75 Cook, and Cecil Rhodes, 2628 Eastdowne, or their Seabee aircraft was turned up by four RCAF aircraft and a Victoria Flying Services float plane that scanned the wooded terrain early this morning.

By noon the weather closed in over the area again and all but one of the RCAF planes returned to the search and rescue base at Sea Island.

The two men disappeared with their plane Sunday during a fishing trip to Nitinat Lake on the Island's west coast.

"We're going to send up a weather reconnaissance flight soon to see if there are any areas that we can search. We'll keep trying until dark to send planes in," said search master Flt. Lieut. J. E. Errington at 1 p.m.

COPTER WAITING

"We've still got a helicopter waiting here to go into the Tuck Lake area for a low level search as soon as the weather breaks," he added.

Meanwhile, a truck column was standing by at Work Point barracks here ready to transport about 180 men of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry up-Island to launch a ground search.

Arthur Rhodes, 3510 Richmond, brother of the missing pilot, said today he planned to join a small ground party of woodsmen that went into the Cowichan Lake area early this morning.

"The plane definitely crashed," he said. "I'm sure of that. And I know that they're in that particular area (the Nitinat River valley, which runs between Nitinat Lake and Cowichan Lake)."

Mr. Rhodes said his brother and other fliers frequently used the valley as a flyway rather than go over the flanking mountain ranges.

"The fog may have covered them in and they may have taken a wrong turn and gone into a mountain," he surmised.

IT'S A LONG TIME

"If they were hurt they'd be pretty numb by now. There's still a lot of snow and ice patches in the higher levels of that area."

"It's a long time without food or shelter..."

Mr. Rhodes said he and a logger friend, Jack Roach, would join the party led by Joseph Hancock, Victoria, brother of famed Cowichan River fishing guide Arthur Hancock, to help search for signs of a wreck in the Cowichan Lake-Tuck Lake region.

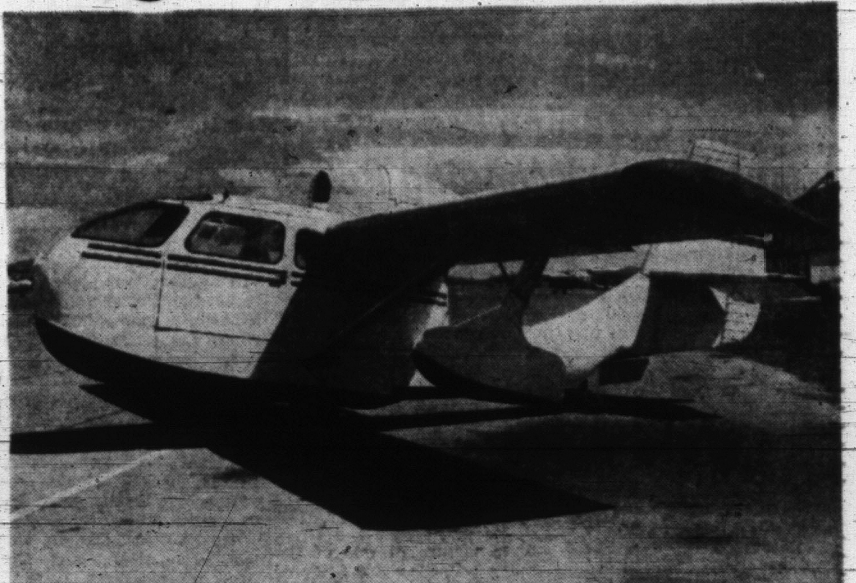

(Roach and Walter Dean of Cowichan Lake made a separate search Wednesday of the Tuck Lake area, eight miles west of the northern tip of Cowichan Lake, to check out a reported explosion Sunday night. But they found no sign of wreckage.)

The search was marred by a cruel hoax shortly before 6 p.m. Wednesday.

A man in breathless voice phoned the C & C office, said he was in Port Alberni and reported the two men had been found in the Franklin River area on the Alberni Canal.

He said they had requested the company to go in and rescue them and promised he would phone back with more information.

There was no second call and subsequent checking showed the report must be false.

SINGLE-ENGINE SEABEE aircraft, like the one above, still was missing with two Victorians aboard as the air search in the Nitinat and Cowichan Lakes region began its fourth day this morning. The four-seat amphibian has an 'overhead' 'pusher' engine mounted on the wing.

Quick Action to Locate Heliport Site for City

Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. officials said today they will move quickly to acquire a suitable heliport site in Victoria.

Acquisition of site here is the next step in the company's plans to start Victoria-Vancouver helicopter service, next year, Alf Stringer, vice-president of operations, said today.

A merger of the company with Britain's huge Bristol Aeroplane Co. Ltd., announced Wednesday, paves the way for Okanagan to gain $4,000,000 needed to finance the purchase of helicopters for the inter-city service.

EARLY MEETING

Mr. Stringer said Okanagan officials, led by company founder Carl Agar, will meet city officials as soon as possible to discuss heliport sites.

Third step in Okanagan's plans—selecting the type of helicopter—is under "constant review."

Size, availability and economy of operation are the factors being considered, said Mr. Stringer.

A city official, meanwhile, said two possibilities for heliport sites face Okanagan:

1. A heliport has been "earmarked" in Victoria West. If it is suitable, Okanagan would have to obtain a lease from the provincial government which has placed the land under industrial reserve. The city would act as the middle-man in negotiations. The lease wouldn't be exorbitant.

2. If the Vic West site is unsuitable Okanagan would have to buy property. The city would have to rezone it.

LARGE AREA

Mr. Stringer said a relatively large package of land is needed. The aircraft, operating with capacity loads, requires an open flight path. Parking facilities, office and maintenance buildings would add to land requirements.

Final details of the merger are expected to be completed within 90 days. At that time Bristol is expected to make an offer to buy all outstanding shares of Okanagan at $4.50 each "in cash or other valuable consideration."

In Vancouver the stock market anticipated the merger. Okanagan shares jumped 55 cents Tuesday to $3.85. They closed at $4.10 Wednesday prior to the announcement.

Okanagan has 59 helicopters. In 1958 the company did more than $3,000,000 business. Canadian Bristol did $20,000,000 business in Canada last year.

The Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League annual drive reached $14,000 today following Wednesday night's two-hour canvass of Greater Victoria homes.

League official Mrs. Doreen Eade said "we would be very happy if we could hit $18,000."

Last year's drive for funds raised $20,000 which was enough to support the crippled children's hospital for two months.

Mrs. Eade appealed to any householder missed Wednesday night to phone the Solarium office at 625 Fort St. for a representative to call, or send a donation to the office. Telephone number is EV 4-9301.

Tonight canvassers will call on areas missed in the first drive.

City's Submarine Scored Few 'Hits'

By MICHAEL ROSE

Victoria ship-watchers will soon have their very own submarine to track as she comes and goes on manoeuvres with the rest of the Pacific Command fleet.

President Eisenhower signed a bill Wednesday authorizing the loan of the USS Burrfish to the RCN for a period of five years with an optional further five-year period.

The 1,800-ton Second World War veteran is at present lying moth-balled in Connecticut reserve navy yard and is expected to arrive here two or three months after refit.

Local feelings about the vessel may be slightly mixed since her war record was something less than brilliant.

JUST TWO KILLS

Burrfish sailed on six patrols and was credited with only two kills after, apparently, spraying the Pacific Ocean with torpedoes.

At one time the submarine saw a Japanese destroyer and cargo ship and fired four torpedoes all of which missed.

More enemy aircraft were sighted in February and March of 1944 but all attacks ended in failure.

Finally in April, 1944, the sub sank a lone tanker with three torpedoes and, six months later, hit a convoy ship with a salvo of six torpedoes.

Near the war's end the luckless vessel had a close call when she fired three "fish" at a small patrol boat, which promptly rounded on her attacker, forced the Burrfish deep and then critically damaged her with a "seemingly inexhaustible supply of depth charges."

ON RADAR PICKET

In post-war years Burrfish operated with the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean and did duty as an Atlantic radar picket ship before being laid up in 1956.

After an estimated 60-day period devoted to cleaning the vessel and testing equipment a Canadian navy crew will sail her round to Esquimalt under the White Ensign.

Officers and crew will be the result of an intensive training program started some years ago by the RCN.

Volunteers from all branches have undergone training in Great Britain with the Royal Navy and in two RN submarines on loan to the Canadian Navy's Atlantic Command.

The loan was approved by a Senate committee after they were told that the RCN was "currently considering" long-range plans to build their own submarine fleet and needed the vessel to train necessary crews.

Canadian Navy sources, however, have said that Burrfish will be used mainly for anti-submarine target practice.

'Easy Pay' B.C. Grants Criticized

City finance committee today endorsed a resolution asking the provincial government to remove a "hardship" on municipalities caused by installment payment of provincial grants.

The resolution will go to a June 15 meeting of Vancouver Island municipal officials for submission as an area resolution to the annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The resolution asked for a return to the original system of "lump sum" payments of grants.

Starting in 1956, the government departed from this practice and spaced out payment of the municipal grants over three installments. Last year and this it increased the number of installments to nine.

This has forced municipalities to pay heavy interest costs on loans floated to carry on their work while waiting for installments, the resolution said.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me where the H.B. Mining and Smelting Co. is and when it was opened? D.T.

A. Hudson's Bay Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd. mine is at Flin Flon, Man. It was started in 1927.

Q. Which country's flag is the simplest in design? T.F.

A. This could be a matter of individual opinion, but the flags of Indonesia, Monaco and Poland are much of an uncomplicated sameness. The first two countries have a flag with the top half red and the bottom half white; Poland's flag is just the reverse.

Firemen raced to the Chinatown address to find an oven full of kindling wood going up in smoke. It had been put there to dry and apparently forgotten.

There was no damage, except to the kindling.

Extent of the woman's injuries was not determined but police said they did not appear to be serious.

The vehicles met at the intersection of Grand and Chambers Streets and force of the impact spun both cars onto grass at the side of the road.

SO HIP, HIP HOORAY

Big, Fat Hippo Due With Drome

By TONY DICKASON

A hippo has a rotund rendezvous with a hippodrome here next month.

Miss Oklahoma, staggering in at 3½ tons and still not fully grown, will tip-toe around the big hippodrome of the Al G. Kelly and Miller circus in Victoria West Park July 11 and 12.

There are theories why a hippodrome is called a hippodrome: main one is the elliptical shape looks like a hippo.

So for Miss Oklahoma it should be "old home" week.

The hippo is one of only two in the world that has been trained to tread the sawdust circuit, guided by a wandish hug in the hands of Capt. Hugo, who masters elephants, too.

VEGETARIAN

Despite all the 3½ tons of meat, Miss Oklahoma—so named because she was born in the zoo of Oklahoma City—is mostly hay and vegetables. She gobbles 1½ bales of hay daily; two bushels of greens, two pecks of apples, and assorted other flora.

Now aged eight, she won't be fully grown for another three years, during which time she is expected to gain some three more tons of avoirdupois.

Then she will be aged sufficiently to bear little hippos for big hippodromes.

There are 159 other animals in the big-top show and zoo, including an expectant father giraffe, named Old Dutch.

Dutch is waiting for his mate's blessed event. She is in the Oklahoma zoo.

NO GAMBLING

The two-hour show concentrates on animals. There are no sideshows in the "carny" tradition, and no games of chance.

This will be the circus' first Canadian appearance in its 54-year history.

Lions, tigers, elephants and the rest of the meandering menagerie will barge across from Vancouver and play up Island points after leaving Victoria.

The two-hour shows start at 2.30 p.m. and 8 p.m. during the stay here, but gates open an hour earlier to enable animal gazers to gaze at the animals.

The show, billed as the second largest in the world—a spokesman said "and maybe we are the largest now"—can seat 3,000 persons under the big top.

RESPONSE TO DESPERATE APPEAL

They Simply Ran Out of Words So Sooke Phone Dials Numbered

For years telephone company officials have been burning their brains trying to think up new names for exchanges in order to broaden the scope of the dial phone.

All went well at the beginning, with the use of such innocuous exchange names as Evergreen, Granite, Mutual, Crestwood, Thorndyke, Circle, and so forth, all names in which successive digits fall into the pattern of nine three-letter groups on the dial.

But more and more people wanted telephones, more and more exchanges were required, and more and more combinations of letters were needed.

Finally came the day when the vice-president in charge of names, shuddering at the thought of printing WRUNG, PNEUMATIC, AXIE, and KHRUSHCHEV in the directory, screamed desperately: "Can't we just use numbers!"

It was done, and the Sooke exchange, to be converted to automatic dialling this year, will have seven digits in its numbers instead of the customary two letters and five digits.

Dread Cleaning Brasswork? Get Handy Wadding Polish

By PENNY SAVER

If you're married to a boat owner, whether he's a fisherman or sailing enthusiast, you'll be delighted to be introduced to the miracle wadding polish I saw today. Large cloth wadding comes in a two-ounce can that sells at 35 cents. Any metal can be cleaned of dirt, including tar and rust, with it. Perfect for fishing lures and boat brasswork, glass, silver, gold, brass, pewter, steel, copper, aluminum and chrome. If used on the family car it won't leave deposits in crevices of grillwork.

Already it's June and soon you'll be shopping for presents for Father's Day. Novel ceramic ashtrays that are convex-shaped and mounted on three rubber-tipped legs are complete with a holder and cigarette snuffer, to eliminate danger of starting fires.

Each ashtray is centred with a picture of one of the famous vintage cars. Included in the collection are Seldon's motor wagon of 1877; Ford's first car which came out in 1896; a 1903 Oldsmobile runabout; 1903 Cadillac; 1902 Autocar and Duryea's 1895 motor wagon. You can afford to buy Dad more than one at the low price they are selling—49 cents.

A really unusual gift for Dad would be one of the ceramic night holders that sell for $2.98. In these he can empty his cigarettes, car keys, wallet and all the hundred-and-one items a man keeps in his suit pockets.

Holders are shaped like various animals. One is a St. Bernard, complete with a barrel in which to hold his owner's possessions. Another is the friendliest alligator one can imagine. Others include a squirrel and a whale.

For information on any of these items give Penny a ring at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Did You Know How You Sleep Affects Your Looks?

We all know that our posture when sitting or standing affects our appearance. Well, even our posture while sleeping influences our looks.

Most folks spend from six to eight hours a night in bed each night. When the habit is to read in bed before going to sleep the time is even longer. The postures we assume while reading and sleeping therefore have a tremendous impact.

Think what happens at the back of your neck if you sleep on an average-sized pillow. If you are on your back, your head is pushed forward. If you lie on your side, your face is dug into the pillow. After a night's sleep you may have deep creases in your cheeks. This is not very helpful in avoiding lines. Also when your eye is against the pillow this may cause puffiness.

If you can learn to sleep on your back without a pillow, that is a splendid beauty routine. It is corrective and preventative to a Dowager's Hump and round shoulders since this position straightens the spine all the way. If this is impossible, why not try one of those very small, compact pillows? Many of them are made of foam rubber.

Years ago Oriental women slept on similar pillows. These were really small wooden blocks. The reason they used these pillows was not to preserve a lovely neckline but their elaborate hairdos.

These small directions may sound foolish and extreme, but they are not since they count up to the prolongation of a youthful appearance. Any woman who is interested in this (and what woman isn't?) must realize that, day by day, we are molding our facial and neck contour, our general appearance and our minds; by our daily habits.

I myself have slept on one of these small, compact pillows for so long that the large ones seem tiring.

LIMIT CREDIT BUYING, URGED BY COUNCIL

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) — Credit buying should be restricted to articles that are needed and not just wanted, the National Council of Women of Canada was told Wednesday.

Mrs. W. Lang of Toronto, liaison officer between the Canadian Association of Consumers and the national council, noted gains in the consumers' war on trading stamps while also indicating the economic dangers of credit buying.

Although Nova Scotia is threatened with "an outbreak of the stamp disease," she said, there are "real signs of progress against this bribe to buy across Canada."

DEAR ABBY

There's Still Free Speech!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This may be a free country, but I am living under a dictatorship. When ever my husband and I go anywhere, he tells me what time we are going to leave before we even get there. He says, "We are going to stay ten minutes!" (Or however long he wants to stay.)

When the time is up, he jumps up and doesn't even ask me if I am ready to leave. He starts for the door and says, "If you're coming with me, you'd better hurry up."

It is so humiliating to have him act this way in front of my friends and family. I've talked to him about it begged and practically gotten on my knees, but he's so hard to change. What can I do?

HUMILIATED

DEAR HUMILIATED: Get off your knees and stand up for your rights. When your husband tells you how long he intends to stay, you tell him you might want to stay longer. If he doesn't want to come back for you later, get a ride home with a friend (and pick a nice-looking one) or take a taxi.

DEAR ABBY: I read a letter in your column concerning elderly parents who were neglected by their children.

I don't want to seem heartless, but it is my experience that people usually get back what they give. Just because people happen to be parents doesn't entitle them to kindness in their old age that they haven't earned.

I know a widow who cries all over town that her children ignore her. Actually, she is to blame. All her life she OTTAWA (CP)—A marble bust of Canada's first woman senator, Cairine Wilson, is to be unveiled June 10 in the Senate anteroom. It was announced Wednesday.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker is to officiate at the unveiling of the statue by sculptor Felix W. de Weldon of Washington, D.C.

Senator Wilson, 74, became Canada's first woman senator in 1930.

Work of Women in Specialized Agencies of UN, Panel Subject

International tensions make world news and appear on the front pages of newspapers, but while sensational political matters are drawing the attention of peoples, the specialized agencies of the United Nations quietly continue to struggle with the problems of health, education, finance and human welfare.

With this thought, Mrs. Phyllis Gravely opened a panel discussion on "Women at Work With United Nations", at a dinner meeting of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, Monday evening.

Mrs. Gravely, chosen 1960 United Nations Fellow of the Canadian Federation of BPW Clubs, will attend the UN General Assembly meetings in New York in September.

GREAT INFLUENCE. Panel members pointed out that "in spite of temporary developments in the opposite direction under the influence of acute tension," they believed that "the tendency in the United Nations is to wear away, or break down, differences, thus helping toward solutions which approach the common interest and application of the principles of the UN Charter."

Struggle of the World Health Organization to feed the world's millions, and the task of the newer International Atomic Agency, to put the atom to work for peaceful economic and social advancement, were discussed.

"Here, in the complex and rapidly growing area of nuclear science and technology, women are at work," one panel member pointed out.

"They are assisting to find ways to utilize the energy of the atom to supplement the world's fast dwindling sources of power supply; to put radiation to use in medicine, agriculture and industry and to help ensure that this development does not present hazards to health and safety or a threat to security and peace."

Mrs. Gravely said: "The women experts, the women officials, the wives of experts and representatives are all making a valuable contribution to the ends which technical assistance has in view."

"However, the leading role which falls to women in technical assistance, belongs to the Palé mauve clematis blossoms arranged in low bowls decorated tables in the Titistle Room at Glenfield Hotel Wednesday evening for a banquet arranged to highlight the 56th annual convention of British Columbia Branch, International Order of The King's Daughters and Sons, held in Victoria this week.

Up-Island Wedding

Marilyn Margaret Osborne, daughter of Mrs. Margaret E. Osborne, Victoria, recently became the bride of Colin Young McPherson, son of Mrs. Grethe McPherson, Port Alberni. Rev. J. D. Verkerk officiated and the brother of the bride, Dave Osborne, gave her in marriage.

For the wedding, in Port Alberni First United Church, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle net. Seed pearls and sequins trimmed the scalloped neckline. The skirt had a front panel of lace and a three-tier Chantilly lace flounce, underlaid with nylon tulle net. A tiara of leaves trimmed with pearls and brilliants held the chapel-length veil of nylon net, edged in lace. The bouquet was of pink roses, maline, fern and swansonia. The bride's only jewelry was a culture pearl drop necklace.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Marilyn Erickson; the bridesmaid, Miss Ruth Weigand, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Diane Osborne, all wore ice blue brocade dresses styled on empire lines. They carried white pom-pom chrysanthemums.

The best man, Jack Redford, and ushers Dave Williamson and Jim Pennington, wore white dinner jackets, tuxedo trousers and cummerbunds.

At the reception in the Port Alberni Golf and Country Club A. H. Hodson was master of ceremonies and J. B. Blake proposed the toast.

After a honeymoon in the United States the newlyweds will make their home at Sterling Arm, Sprout Lake, Alberni.

IT'S A HARD AND FAST RULE in my house to use GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER once a week, every week. I know how dangerous it is to neglect those germs that lurk in every drain. And I know, too, from experience, that liquid disinfectants can't budge the greasy muck these germs breed in. It takes the special churning, boiling action of Gillet's Drain Cleaner to completely scour out every trace of this germ-breeding mess. If you wish to enjoy the satisfaction of fast-running, clean and sanitary drains, just put 2 tablespoons of Gillet's Drain Cleaner in every drain, every week!

HERE'S A LETTER from a lady who loves gardening, but used to suffer so much from arthritic pain in her back that she had to give it up. Then, she writes: "I am thankful to say that in TEMPLETON'S T-R-C's, I have found the relief from my suffering for which I longed. I only hope that everyone else, who suffers as I have, may try T-R-C's, and get the same good result." If you, too, suffer from arthritic, neuritic, sciatic or rheumatic pain—or know of anyone who does—do try long-famous, reliable T-R-C's.

Western RED CEDAR Bevel SIDING

Keystone clear kiln dried siding is the finest available—a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

THE LUMBER

Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood. It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for gluing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY

Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heartwood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING CHARACTERISTICS

Left exposed without paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen. It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES

Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly used soft woods—another point in its favor as siding, and of particular importance when used as roof decking.

New Soviet Arms Plan

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Union today presented new disarmament proposals to the world which it said were intended to have been presented at the Paris summit meeting.

TEAMSTERS TALK TOUGH

TORONTO (CP)—With a strong warning to other unions to stay out of its jurisdiction, the Teamsters' union today acknowledged its expulsion from the Canadian Labor Congress.

"Anything that moves is our jurisdiction," said I. M. (Casey) Dadds, Canadian director of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. "If anybody attacks us, we'll hit them with a strong counter-attack."

The statement was made following his return from a meeting in Ottawa Wednesday, where the CLC executive council formally expelled the 40,000-member union for raiding another CLC affiliate, the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks.

80MPH Wind Hits Banff, Heavy Loss

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—Winds up to 80 mph hit the centre of this resort town Wednesday, uprooting hundreds of trees and causing an estimated $100,000 damage.

Power and telephone lines collapsed and falling trees smashed at least half a dozen parked cars as the storm hit hardest in an area between the Banff Springs Hotel, the Banff National Park administration building and neighboring Sulphur Mountain.

No injuries, however, were reported.

HOUSE AND THE SPOUSE 'ON SPECIAL' IN CONGO

LEOROLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (UPI)—The most flourishing racket promoted by Congo city slickers these days is the "white slave" business on a future-delivery basis.

A brisk business in the "sale" of wives and daughters of Europeans is going on with the country dwellers with the promise the buyer will get his woman after the Congo becomes independent June 30.

The going price for a well-

rounded Belgian woman is about $20—a month's salary for the average tribesman.

The swindle works like this. The city Joe sees one of his country cousins eyeing a white woman in the street. He sidles up and asks:

"Would my friend like to acquire that white woman after independence?"

The deal is usually clinched over a beer, and a "bill of sale" is handed over. Since few jungle Africans can read, they are often stuck with an election pamphlet which they are told gives them the right to possess the white woman after independence day.

Some of the local con men don't just sell the woman of the house—they sell the house along with her.

One Belgian rushed into a police station recently to report that an African had knocked at the door of his home and asked if he could have a look around.

The African explained he had just bought the house, would be moving in on July 1, and wanted to have a look at his property.

The Belgian bought a gun and is apprehensively awaiting July 1.

Airlines and shipping offices report they are booked solid for the next two months by Europeans heading for safety.

U.S. 'Alert' On Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Thomas Gates disclosed today that U.S. military forces now are engaged in a communications alert exercise.

Gates said that the exercise, similar to the one he ordered from Paris on the eve of the summit conference, started at 11 p.m. Wednesday night "and it is going on for several days."

U-2 HEARING

'No Attempt To Stop Flights'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Thomas Gates testified today that so far as he knows there was never any discussion in the administration of suspending spy plane flights over Russia as the date for the Paris summit conference approached.

In a closed-door session with the Senate foreign relations committee, Gates also:

1. Related that top-level administration officials unanimously felt that President Eisenhower should take responsibility for the spy flights after Soviet Premier Khrushchev made a great issue of the downing of a spy plane May 1.

2. Defended the military alert he issued from Paris on the eve of the summit session. Gates argued it was proper, prudent and "absolutely essential."

He added in similar circumstances he would do the same thing again.

3. Disclosed the U-2 spy plane flights over the Soviet Union had produced a wide range of "vital information," including locations of missiles and planes and submarine and atomic production.

Some administration critics have questioned the timing of the alert order. They said the spy plane incident already had made it dubious whether the conference would be held.

They added that the alert only complicated the situation.

Gates said that on Sunday night, May 15, the U.S. representatives at Paris, headed by President Eisenhower, "were already aware of the sense of the statement Mr. Khrushchev was going to make the following morning."

"The conditions which he had set for participation in the conference made it apparent even at the time that he deliberately intended to wreck the conference. This communications alert was not an act that was either offensive or defensive in character. It was a sound precautionary measure."

Rescuers Digging To Trapped Men

Two Prospectors Caught in Shaft

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP)—Rescue workers dug by hand—one man at a time working in a tiny tunnel—in an attempt today to reach two prospectors trapped behind a mine cave-in.

It was expected to be late today before the rescuers could work through about 20 feet of rock, mud and rotting timbers to reach the prospectors, trapped Tuesday by a slide at the mine opening.

The trapped men are brothers, Pat McDonald, 45, and Percy, 51. Both are from Coquitlam, B.C.

Only one man could stand in the small rescue tunnel, shovelling out dirt and rock. And reports from the scene said new piles of debris are falling continually from the sagging roofs and walls.

A growing number of men were appearing at the entrance to the isolated, abandoned gold mine to help in rescue efforts. However, bad weather continued to hold an RCAF helicopter in Vancouver with its medical team.

An eight-man rescue team which reached the site after crossing difficult terrain by jeep was spearheading the rescue attempts. They were joined early today by five others.

In Vancouver, an RCAF helicopter was awaiting favorable weather before flying in a four-man medical team.

The rescue team, from Bralorne Pioneer Mines Limited, reported after it reached the mine Wednesday night that the cave-in was extensive but tapings indicated the trapped men were safe.

The prospectors, who were exploring the mine 150 miles northeast of Vancouver near McGillivray Falls, were believed to have plenty of air as the shaft penetrates fairly deep.

An official said the rescue team was well equipped and

Pat McDonald was in the mine tunnel when log supports at the entrance crumpled. Percy and a nephew, Percy McDonald Jr., 17, were at the entrance. Percy Sr. apparently ran into the mine to help his brother, while Percy Jr., ran for the open.

'Many Die' Says Doctor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former official of the food and drug administration charged today that "hundreds of people ... suffer daily and many die" because of what he called the agency's failure to enforce drug safety and branding standards.

Dr. Barbara Moulton, who quit the staff of the FDA's bureau of medicine last February made the charge in testimony before the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee. The group, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D, Tenn.) is investigating the drug industry.

'DON'T WORRY' MOTHER TOLD

CANNES, France (UPI)—Mrs. Patricia Vanderbilt's missing daughter telephoned her mother from Germany today and said "Don't worry, mom, I'm in good hands."

Mrs. Vanderbilt previously had said she believed her blonde, blue-eyed, 18-year-old daughter Nanette had eloped, but she was not sure with whom.

Bank Rate Eases

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada interest rate eased today to 3.17 per cent from 3.26 last week with the sale of $95,000,000 in 91-day government treasury bills.

Queen To Visit India

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters)—The Queen has accepted an invitation to visit India, official sources said tonight.

U.K. Ready To Join?

PARIS (AP)—British prime minister John Profumo said today that Britain is ready to consider joining the European coal and steel community and the European Atomic Authority.

This was seen as a big break in the economic deadlock between the six European Common Market countries and the seven-country free trade association led by Britain.

CRASH IN PLAYGROUND

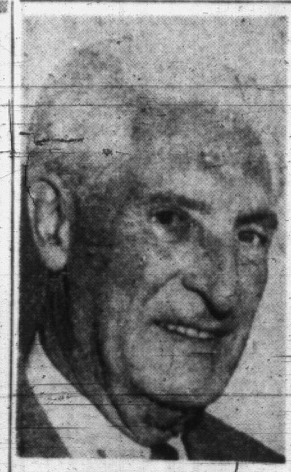

POMONA, Calif. (UPI)—Two runaway brothers aged 12 and 14—and the pet dog they took along on their adventure—were killed early today when a plane they stole smashed full-throttle into a playground.

The single-engine plane crashed and burned in the grounds of Emerson Junior High School located in a residential section clustered with homes and apartment houses in this Los Angeles suburb.

Had the crash happened several hours later the playground would have been filled with milling students.

The brothers—who were in love with flying and once said they would learn to fly or "die trying"—were identified by their parents as Thomas, 12, and James, 14, McDonald. Both had once attempted to steal an airplane. They had been missing from their home since Monday.

TRIBUTES TO LESTER PATRICK HOCKEY'S 'SILVER FOX' ON PAGE 10

LESTER PATRICK ... widely mourned

Hockey Greats To Attend Patrick Rites

Hockey stars from far and wide are travelling to Victoria to attend the funeral Saturday of hockey great Lester Patrick, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Wednesday at 2:55 p.m.

He was taken there two weeks ago, suffering from lung cancer.

Four stars who played under Mr. Patrick in the Stanley Cup playoffs in New York in 1940 will attend. They are Babe Pratt, Alex Shibicky, Clint Smith and Neil Colville.

"We hope they will act as pallbearers," Murray (Muzz) Patrick, Lester's son, said today.

Other old-timers who played under Mr. Patrick in Victoria and New York may also be pallbearers, including the 1925 Stanley Cup veterans Frank Fredrickson from Vancouver and Frank Foyston of Seattle.

The funeral services will be held at First United Church at 3 p.m. They will be conducted by Rev. A. I. Higgins, the present minister, and Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, 91, a former minister, who was a close friend of Mr. Patrick.

He is survived by the widow, Grace, at 242 Linden Avenue; two sons, Lynn and Murray, general managers of the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers of the NHL, who visited their father before his death; three brothers, Frank, Guy and Stanley in Vancouver; and two sisters, Mrs. W. Scott of Vancouver and Mrs. G. A. Strickland, Deep Cove.

BODY LIES IN STATE

The body will lie in state at Sands' funeral home from 7:30 p.m. Friday to 12:30 p.m. Saturday. Interment will be in the family plot at Royal Oak Burial Park.

Coming here to attend the funeral will be Walter Brown, president of the Boston Bruins and chairman of the National Hockey League's board of governors; and Ned Irish, president of Madison Square Garden.

Western Hockey League president Al Leader, who lives in Seattle, is also hoping to attend. So is old-time hockey star Fred (Cyclone) Taylor, now living in Vancouver.

The B.C. government, the city council and the city police will be represented.

'SILVER FOX' LOSS TO HOCKEY WORLD

'Legend Belongs to History'

By DOUG PEDEN
Times Sports Editor

The legend of the Silver Fox now belongs to history. Tributes to Lester Patrick, "Mr. Hockey" to millions of Canadians and Americans, have streamed into Victoria since his death at Royal Jubilee Hospital Wednesday afternoon, honoring the memory of the silver-haired genius of the ice lanes.

To me, and I am just one of hundreds, it seems like a deep personal loss, for I have felt privileged for almost 30 years to think that Lester Patrick was my friend. From the time I first met him while sharing school sports activities with his sons, Lynn and Murray, who have followed his pattern to become general managers of National Hockey League clubs, he was a man to be admired.

Kids and spent many hours answering our questions on the back lawn of his Linden Avenue home. Patrick always seemed to understand our problems and his amazing memory was such that he never forgot the name of even the smallest urchin.

Lester's words guided many of us. He seldom said directly what should be done, preferring to relate anecdotes—and he was a master story-teller. It wasn't for several years that I realized that almost every story was told with a purpose.

I got to know Lester better in later years, especially one summer while he was vice-president of Madison Square Garden and I was doing a stint in the New York area with a House of David baseball team.

Lester had been ill that year and was under doctor's orders to lie down for a couple of hours each afternoon. During long talks while he was resting on a couch in his office, I learned a lot about, and from, Mr. Hockey.

That summer, more than at any other time, I knew that this was no ordinary man. We may never see another in hockey like Lester Patrick.

During one of those summer

sessions, Lester recalled what he believed was his greatest game. It was played in a small, open-air rink in Rossland, B.C., during the 1907-08 season, shortly after his father had sold the family business interests in Quebec and acquired timber holdings near Nelson.

Then 23, Lester was captain of the Nelson club. He was known to Rossland fans as "that Stanley Cup player" and was "razzed" unmercifully while the teams were warming up for the opening game.

Always a thinker, Lester mapped his plan of action and seldom moved from his own end of the ice during the first 45 minutes. While he was conserving his energy, Rossland scored two goals. But with 15 minutes remaining, Patrick was the freshest player on the ice.

BOY, BATHROOM, LOCK, FIREMAN

Whoever invented bathroom door locks forgot to allow for little boys.

One of the oldest "emergencies" requiring firemen was repeated here today with a 2½-year-old the object of rescue by a Victoria fireman who clambered up to a second-storey window.

Michael Page was visiting with his mother at the home of Mrs. J. Harker, 2201 Vancouver, when he slipped into the bathroom, clicked the lock and lost the combination for getting out.

Panic set in, as usual, and when keys could not be located, it was fireman Alan Duval to the rescue.

The sequence, to its tear-stained sequel and reunion with mother is depicted at right and top, where fireman Duval smiles, "Shucks, it was nothing."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) Cadet corps and band will perform re-treat ceremony on the Legislature lawn at 8:30 tonight.

It is the unit's second sunset ritual this season and fourth night to be taken by a cadet corps this week.

Strawberry Vale and District Community Club will hold a western-style concert in the Community Hall on Saturday, June 11, at 8 p.m.

A private "showing" of obscene pictures constitutes publication, Magistrate William Ostler ruled in city police court today.

He found Albert Vincent, 816 Cook, guilty of having obscene pictures in his possession for publication.

Vincent previously was found guilty of indecent assault on a 17-year-old boy soldier and was remanded on both charges to Tuesday for probation-report and sentence.

WANT CASH NOW

'Easy Pay' B.C. Grants Criticized

City finance committee today endorsed a resolution asking the provincial government to remove a "hardship" on municipalities caused by installment payment of provincial grants.

The resolution will go to a June 15 meeting of Vancouver Island municipal officials for submission as an area resolution to the annual meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The resolution asked for a return to the original system of "lump sum" payments of grants.

Starting in 1956, the government departed from this practice and spaced out payment of the municipal grants over three installments. Last year and this it increased the number of installments to nine.

This has forced municipalities to pay heavy interest costs on loans floated to carry on their work while waiting for installments, the resolution said.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. Could you please tell me where the H.B. Mining and Smelting Co. is and when it was opened? D.T.

A. Hudson's Bay Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd. mine is at Flin Flon, Man. It was started in 1927.

Q. Which country's flag is the simplest in design? T.F.

A. This could be a matter of individual opinion, but the flags of Indonesia, Monaco and Poland are much of an uncomplicated sameness. The first two countries have a flag with the top half red and the bottom half white; Poland's flag is just the reverse.

CITY'S SUN 'JUST LUCKY' - TO CONTINUE

Victoria today basked in sunshine for the second consecutive day, although there is cloud and rain farther up Island.

"We're just lucky, but we're not complaining," said weatherman William Mackle when he predicted mainly clear skies for tonight and Friday. "We are just on the southern fringe of the weather."

Winds will be westerly at up to 15 miles per hour, and temperatures will be in the comparatively balmy range of from 50 degrees tonight to a possible 70 degrees Friday.

Searchers on Foot Seeking Lost Fliers

Weather Hampers Planes

Bad weather continued to dog the air search today over mid-Vancouver Island for the two missing Victorians.

No sign of C & C Transportation Ltd. Co-owners Cecil Rawlings, 75 Cook, and Cecil Rhodes, 2628 Eastdowne, or their Seabee aircraft was turned up by four RCAF aircraft and a Victoria Flying Services float plane that scanned the wooded terrain early this morning.

By noon the weather closed in over the area again and the RCAF planes returned to the search and rescue base at Sea Island.

The two men disappeared with their plane Sunday during a fishing trip to Nitinat Lake on the Island's west coast.

"We're going to send up a weather reconnaissance flight soon to see if there are any areas that we can search. We'll keep trying until dark to send planes in," said search master Flt. Lieut. J. E. Errington at 1 p.m.

COPTER WAITING

"We've still got a helicopter waiting here to go into the Tuck Lake area for a low level search as soon as the weather breaks," he added.

Meanwhile, a truck column was standing by at Work Point barracks here ready to transport about 180 men of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry up-Island to launch a ground search.

Arthur Rhodes, 3510 Richmond, brother of the missing pilot, said today he planned to join a small ground party of woodsmen that went into the Cowichan Lake area early this morning.

"The plane definitely crashed," he said. "I'm sure of that. And I know that they're in that particular area (the Nitinat River valley, which runs between Nitinat Lake and Cowichan Lake)."

Mr. Rhodes said his brother and other fliers frequently used the valley as a flyway rather than go over the flanking mountain ranges.

"The fog may have covered them and they may have taken a wrong turn and gone into a mountain," he surmised.

IT'S A LONG TIME

"If they were hurt they'd be pretty number by now. There's still a lot of snow and ice patches in the higher levels of that area."

Mr. Rhodes said he and a logger friend, Jack Roach, would join the party led by Joseph Hancock, Victoria, brother of famed Cowichan River fishing guide Arthur Hancock, to help search for signs of a wreck in the Cowichan Lake-Tuck Lake region.

(Roach and Walter Dean of Cowichan Lake made a separate search Wednesday of the Tuck Lake area, eight miles west of the northern tip of Cowichan Lake, to check out a reported explosion Sunday night. But they found no sign of wreckage.)

The search was marred by a cruel hoax shortly before 6 p.m. Wednesday.

A man in breathless voice phoned the C & C offices, said he was in Port Alberni and reported the two men had been found in the Franklin River area on the Alberni Canal.

He said they had requested flier friends to go in and rescue them and promised he would phone back with more information.

There was no second call and subsequent checking showed the report must be false.

RESPONSE TO DESPERATE APPEAL

They Simply Ran Out of Words So Sooke Phone Dials Numbered

For years telephone company officials have been burning their brains trying to think up new names for exchanges in order to broaden the scope of the dial phone.

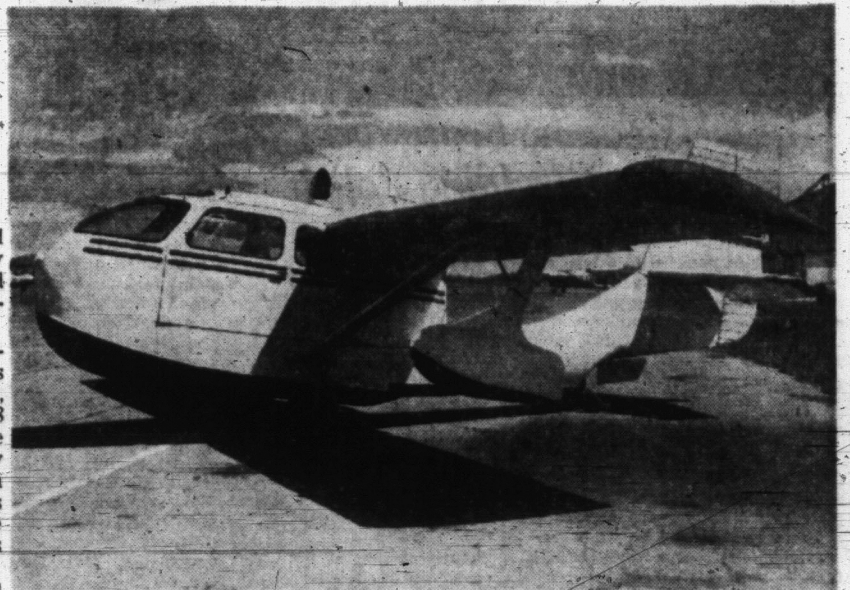

All went well at the beginning, with the use of such innocuous exchange names as Evergreen, Granite, Mutual, Crestwood, Thorndyke, Circle, and so forth, all names in which successive digits fall into the pattern of nine three-letter groups on the dial.

But more and more people wanted telephones, more and more exchanges were required, and more and more combinations of letters were needed.

Finally came the day when the vice-president in charge of names, shuddering at the thought of printing WRUNG, PNEUMATIC, AXIE, and KRUSHCHEV in the directory, screamed desperately: "Can't we just use numbers?"

It was done, and the Sooke exchange, to be converted to automatic dialling this year, will have seven digits in its numbers instead of the customary two letters and five digits.

SINGLE-ENGINE SEABEE aircraft, like the one above, still was missing with two Victorians aboard as the air search in the Nitinat and Cowichan Lakes region began its fourth day this morning. The four-seat amphibian has an overhead "pusher" engine mounted on the wing.

Quick Action to Locate Heliport Site for City

Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. officials said today they will move quickly to acquire a suitable heliport site in Victoria.

Acquisition of site here is the next step in the company's plans to start Victoria-Vancouver helicopter service next year, Alf Stringer, vice-president of operations, said today.

A merger of the company with Britain's huge Bristol Aeroplane Co. Ltd., announced Wednesday, paves the way for Okanagan to gain $4,000,000 needed to finance the purchase of helicopters for the inter-city service.

EARLY MEETING

Mr. Stringer said Okanagan officials, led by company founder Carl Agar, will meet city officials as soon as possible to discuss heliport sites.

Third step in Okanagan's plans—selecting the type of helicopter—is under "constant review."

Size, availability and economy of operation are the factors being considered, said Mr. Stringer.

A city official, meanwhile, said two possibilities for heliport sites face Okanagan:

1. A heliport has been "earmarked" in Victoria West. If it is suitable, Okanagan would have to obtain a lease from the provincial government which has placed the land under industrial reserve. The city would act as the middleman in negotiations. The lease wouldn't be exorbitant.

2. If the Vic West site is unsuitable Okanagan would have to buy property. The city would have to rezone it.

LARGE AREA

Mr. Stringer said a relatively large package of land is needed. The aircraft, operating with capacity loads, requires an open flight path. Parking facilities, office and maintenance buildings would add to land requirements.

Final details of the merger are expected to be completed within 90 days. At that time Bristol is expected to make an offer to buy all outstanding shares of Okanagan at $4.50 each "in cash or other valuable consideration."

In Vancouver the stock market anticipated the merger. Okanagan shares jumped 55 cents Tuesday to $3.85. They closed at $4.10 Wednesday prior to the announcement.

Okanagan has 59 helicopters. In 1958 the company did more than $3,000,000 business. Canadian Bristol did $20,000,000 business in Canada last year.

The Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League annual drive reached $14,000 today following Wednesday night's two-hour canvass of Greater Victoria homes.

League official Mrs. Doreen Eade said "we would be very happy if we could hit $18,000."

Last year's drive for funds raised $20,000 which was enough to support the crippled children's hospital for two months.

Mrs. Eade appealed to any householder missed Wednesday night to phone the Solarium office at 625 Fort St. for a representative to call, or send a donation to the office. Telephone number is EV 4-9301.

Tonight canvassers will call on areas missed in the first drive.

HERE IN FEW MONTHS

City's Submarine Scored Few 'Hits'

By MICHAEL ROSE

Victoria ship-watchers will soon have their very own submarine to track as she comes and goes on manoeuvres with the rest of the Pacific Command fleet.

President Eisenhower signed a bill Wednesday authorizing the loan of the USS Burrfish to the RCN for a period of five years with an optional further five-year period.

The 1,800-ton Second World War veteran is at present lying moth-balled in Connecticut reserve yard and is expected to arrive here two or three months after refit.

Local feelings about the vessel may be slightly mixed since her war record was something less than brilliant.

JUST TWO KILLS

Burrfish sailed on six patrols and was credited with only two kills after, apparently, spraying the Pacific Ocean with torpedoes.

At one time the submarine saw a Japanese destroyer and cargo ship and fired four torpedoes all of which missed.

More enemy aircraft were sighted in February and March of 1944 but all attacks ended in failure.

Finally in April, 1944, the sub sank a lone tanker with three torpedoes and, six months later, hit a convoy ship with a spray of six torpedoes.

Near the war's end the luckless vessel had a close call when she fired three "fish" at a small patrol boat, which promptly rounded on her attacker, forced the Burrfish deep and then critically damaged her with a "seemingly inexhaustible supply of depth charges."

ON RADAR PICKET

In post-war years Burrfish operated with the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean and did duty as an Atlantic radar picket ship before being laid up in 1956.

After an estimated 60-day period devoted to cleaning the vessel and testing equipment a Canadian navy crew will sail her round to Esquimalt under the White Ensign.

Officers and crew will be the result of an intensive training program started some years ago by the RCN.

Volunteers from all branches have undergone training in Great Britain with the Royal Navy and in two RN submarines on loan to the Canadian Navy's Atlantic Command.

The loan was approved by a Senate committee after they were told that the RCN was "currently considering long-range plans to build their own submarine fleet" and needed the vessel to train necessary crews.

Canadian Navy sources, however, have said that Burrfish will be used mainly for anti-submarine target practice

SO HIP, HIP HOORAY

Big, Fat Hippo Due With Drome

By TONY DICKASON

A hippo has a rotund rendezvous with a hippodrome here next month.

Miss Oklahoma, staggering in at 3½ tons and still not fully grown, will tip-toe around the big hippodrome of the Al G. Kelly and Miller circus in Victoria West Park July 11 and 12.

There are theories why a hippodrome is called a hippodrome; main one is the elliptical shape looks like a hippo.

So for Miss Oklahoma it should be "old home" week.

The hippo is one of only two in the world that has been trained to tread the sawdust circuit, guided by a wandish whip in the hands of Capt. Hugo, who masters elephants, too.

VEGETARIAN

Despite all the 3½ tons of meat, Miss Oklahoma — so named because she was born in the zoo of Oklahoma City — is mostly hay and vegetables. She gobbles 1½ bales of hay daily; two bushels of greens, two pecks of apples, and assorted other flora.

Now aged eight, she won't be fully grown for another three years, during which time she is expected to gain some three more tons of avoidrupois.

Then she will be aged sufficiently to bear little hippodromes.

There are 159 other animals in the big-top show and zoo, including an expectant father giraffe, named Old Dutch.

Dutch is waiting for his mate's blessed event. She is in the Oklahoma zoo.

Until the baby giraffe's coming birth was noted, the pair travelled neck and neck with the circus.

NO GAMBLING

The two-hour show concentrates on animals. There are no sideshows in the "carny" tradition, and no games of chance.

This will be the circus' first Canadian appearance in its 54-year history.

Lions, tigers, elephants and the rest of the meandering menagerie will barge across from Vancouver and play up-Island points after leaving Victoria.

The two-hour shows start at 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. during the stay here, but gates open an hour earlier to enable animal lovers to gaze at the animals.

The show, billed as the second largest in the world — a spokesman said "and maybe we are the largest now" — can seat 3,000 persons under the big top.

U.S. 'Alert' On Now

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Thomas Gates disclosed today that U.S. military forces now are engaged in a communications alert exercise.

Gates said that the exercise, similar to the one he ordered from Paris on the eve of the summit conference, started at 11 p.m. Wednesday night "and it is going on for several days."

U-2 HEARING

'No Attempt To Stop Flights'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary Thomas Gates testified today that so far as he knows there was never any discussion in the administration of suspending spy plane flights over Russia as the date for the Paris summit conference approached.

In a closed-door session with the Senate foreign relations committee, Gates also:

1. Related that top-level administration officials unanimously felt that President Eisenhower should take responsibility for the spy flights after Soviet Premier Khrushchev made a great issue of the downing of a spy plane May 1.
2. Defended the military alert he issued from Paris on the eve of the summit session. Gates argued it was proper, prudent and "absolutely essential." He added in similar circumstances he would do the same thing again.
3. Disclosed the U-2 spy plane flights over the Soviet Union had produced a wide range of "vital information," including locations of missiles and planes and submarine and atomic production.

Some administration critics have questioned the timing of the alert order. They said the

Hockey Greats To Attend Patrick Rites

Hockey stars from far and wide are travelling to Victoria to attend the funeral Saturday of hockey great Lester Patrick, who died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Wednesday at 2.55 p.m.

He was taken there two weeks ago suffering from lung cancer.

Four stars who played under Mr. Patrick in the Stanley Cup playoffs in New York in 1940 will attend. They are Babe Pratt, Alex Shibicky, Clint Smith and Neil Colville.

"We hope they will act as pallbearers," Murray (Muzz) Patrick, Lester's son, said today.

Other old-timers who played under Mr. Patrick in Victoria and New York may also be pallbearers, including the 1925 Stanley Cup veterans Frank Fredrickson from Vancouver and Frank Foyston of Seattle.

The funeral services will be held at First United Church at 3 p.m. They will be conducted by Rev. A. I. Higgins, the present minister, and Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson, 91, a former minister, who was a close friend of Mr. Patrick.

He is survived by the widow, Grace, at 242 Linden Avenue; two sons, Lynn and Murray, general managers of the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers of the NHL, who visited their father before his death; three brothers, Frank, Guy and Stanley in Vancouver; and two sisters, Mrs. W. Scott of Vancouver and Mrs. G. A. Strickland, Deep Cove.

Two Prospectors Caught in Shaft

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP)—Rescue workers dug by hand—one man at a time working in a tiny tunnel—in an attempt today to reach two prospectors trapped behind a mine cave-in.

It was expected to be late today before the rescuers could work through about 20 feet of rock, mud and rotting timbers to reach the prospectors, trapped Tuesday by a slide at the mine opening.

The trapped men are brothers, Pat McDonald, 45, and Percy, 51. Both are from Coquitlam, B.C.

Only one man could stand in the small rescue tunnel, shovelling out dirt and rock. And reports from the scene said new piles of debris are falling continually from the sagging roofs and walls.

A growing number of men were appearing at the entrance to the isolated, abandoned gold mine to help in rescue efforts. However, bad weather continued to hold an RCAF helicopter in Vancouver with its medical team.

Teams Use Jeep to Reach Mine Site

An eight-man rescue team which reached the site after crossing difficult terrain by jeep was spearheading the rescue attempts. They were joined early today by five others.

In Vancouver, an RCAF helicopter was awaiting favorable weather before flying in a four-man medical team.

The rescue team, from Bralorne Pioneer Mines Limited, reported after it reached the mine Wednesday night that the cave-in was extensive but tapings indicated the trapped men were safe.

The prospectors, who were exploring the mine 150 miles northeast of Vancouver near McGillivray Falls, were believed to have plenty of air as the shaft penetrates fairly deep.

An official said the rescue team was well-equipped and a contract crew working on a nearby B.C. Electric power line had cleared a road to the abandoned shaft.

First word of the accident came from John McKelvey, of

CRASH IN PLAYGROUND

Young Boys Killed In Plane Escapade

POMONA, Calif. (UPI)—Two runaway brothers aged 12 and 14—and the pet dog they took along on their adventure—were killed early today when a plane they stole smashed full-throttle into a playground.

The single-engine plane crashed and burned in the grounds of Emerson Junior High School located in a residential section clustered with homes and apartment houses in this Los Angeles suburb.

Had the crash happened several hours later the playground would have been filled with milling students.

The brothers—who were in love with flying and once said they would learn to fly or "die trying"—were identified by their parents as Thomas, 12, and James, 14, McDonald. Both had once attempted to steal an airplane. They had been missing from their home since Monday.

HOUSE AND THE SPOUSE 'ON SPECIAL' IN CONGO

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (UPI)—The most flourishing racket promoted by Congo city slickers these days is the "white slave" business on a future-delivery basis.

A brisk business in the "sale" of wives and daughters of Europeans is going on with the country dwellers with the promise the buyer will get his woman after the Congo becomes independent June 30.

The going price for a well-rounded Belgian woman is about $20-a-month salary for the average tribesman. The swindle works like this:

The city Joe sees one of his country cousins eyeing a white woman in the street. He slides up and asks:

"Would my friend like to acquire that white woman after independence?"

The deal is usually clinched over a beer, and a "bill of sale" is handed over. Since few jungle Africans can read, they are often stuck with an election pamphlet which they are told gives them the right to possess the white woman after independence day.

Some of the local con men don't just sell the woman of the house—they sell the house along with her.

One Belgian rushed into a police station recently to report that an African had knocked at the door of his home and asked if he could have a look around.

The African explained he had just bought the house, would be moving in on July 1, and wanted to have a look at his property.

The Belgian bought a gun and is apprehensively awaiting July 1.

Airlines and shipping offices report they are booked solid for the next two months by Europeans heading for safety.

AWARE WHAT COMING

Gates said that on Sunday night, May 15, the U.S. representatives at Paris, headed by President Eisenhower, "were already aware of the sense of the statement Mr. Khrushchev was going to make the following morning."

"The conditions which he had set for participation in the conference made it apparent even at the time that he deliberately intended to wreck the conference. This communications alert was not an act that was either offensive or defensive in character. It was a sound precautionary measure."
